Winter's Wrath Has Area Limp

By JERRY KREGER

A churning winter storm that mixed four to six inches of snow and 25 to 30 mile an hour winds over nearly a 24-hour period left southwestern Michigan staggering this morning.

Many secondary roads were plugged by drifts early this morning, and virtually all the weather picture through Saturday, the Weather Service indicated. But bitter cold air will prevail behind the storm. Temperatures are not expected to get much above 15 degrees through Saturday, with night temperatures between 5 above and 10-below across southern Michigan.

Blowing snow that made work almost around the clock. Most crew resumed the fight around 3 a.m. after brief rests.

The Berrien County Road commission said some secondary roads were still plagued at mid-morning, but that it was expected all roads would be open by noon.

Road commission and law enforcement officials in Van Buren, Allegan and Cass counties reported a big majority of secondary roads there were impassable or limited to one-lane traffic.

All main roads were reported open this morning, as state, county and city snow plow crews scheduled meetings last night.

Adult education classes in many K-12 districts in the area and night classes at Lake Michigan college and Southwestern Michigan college were cancelled last night.

School closings today were almost complete at the preschool, elementary and high school grade levels in public and parochial schools. Three colleges in the area, Lake Michigan college, Southwestern Michigan college and Andrews university, all were open today.

A dedication planned for tonight of the new gymnasium of Bangor high school was postponed from tonight. The postponement came as the school cancelled the Bangor-Fennville basketball game tonight. School officials said the dedication ceremony will be held now during the Bangor-St. Phillip's game Saturday evening.

Police agencies in the Twin Cities area policed 66 traffic accidents, most of them the result of icy pavements or poor visibility, during the period from midnight Sunday to 6 a.m. today. Eight persons sustained minor injuries in five of the crashes.

All area police agencies reported a number of cars were stalled along roadsides by drifts or mechanical troubles. A Berrien County Road commission

Man Loses $4,900 Cash In Snow Near BH YMCA

A Fairplain man told Benton Harbor police that he lost $4,950 in cash Monday night, apparently in the snow while getting out of his car on Michigan street in front of the YMCA. Police said Leslie K. Ballard, 62, of 234 West Napier avenue, reported the money was in a wad of $50 and $100 bills and had been in his pants pocket. Ballard said he had parked his car about 7:30 p.m. and went into the YMCA where he noticed the money was missing. He told police he searched the area about two hours before calling them. Police said they also searched but were unable to find the money. Ballard's wife, Marjorie, told The Herald-Palladium this morning, her husband will offer a "liberal reward" to the finder. She said her husband is a retired car salesman who now does odd jobs.

MUNICH OLYMPICS SUSPECT Alleged Terrorist Freed

PARIS (AP) — A French court today freed Abu Daoud, the Palestinian leader who allegedly commanded the terrorist attack on the Israeli team at the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich. He had been detained in Paris Friday night.

The court declared that West German and Israeli requests to keep him in jail pending possible extradition proceedings were unacceptable.

Abu Daoud had been driven under heavy guard from a Paris prison to the central courts for the hearing.

Lawyers for the French government argued that Abu Daoud's identity had not been clearly established. Daoud's lawyers contended he should be freed on grounds that he was on an official Palestinian mission in Paris when arrested.

The French government had been under strong pressure from its Arab friends to free him.

A succession of Arab ambassadors went to the Foreign Ministry Monday to protest to Secretary-General Jean Marie Soutou. They said their governments considered the arrest Friday of the high-ranking member of the Palestine Liberation Organization an "unfriendly act" toward the Arab world because he was in France as a member of an official PLO delegation.

Syrian Ambassador Abdel Karim said he and the other envoys expressed "profound concern." Observers said it was the first time such terms had been used officially since France began courting the Arabs after the end of the Algerian War.

In Algeria, a major supplier of oil to France, the official newspaper El Moujahid said the arrest "stripped naked the anti-Arab face of the (French) administration."

Farouk Kadouri, head of the PLO's political department, threatened reprisals.

"There are Palestinian and Arab countermeasures to contain the matter," he told reporters in Kuwait. "The Palestinian resistance movement will not tolerate the matter if the French government hands over Abu Daoud to West Germany."

Meanwhile, in Florida, tornadoes spawned by the cold moving from the Northwest ripped roofs off buildings and dropped temperatures into the teens in some areas.

Security precautions against terrorist attacks were increased at French airports.

Big Storm Heads Into Canada Now

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's first big winter storm of 1977 moved into Canada today after leaving much of the East Coast under a blanket of snow and ice and the western two-thirds of the nation in subzero temperatures.

Authorities reported at least 14 storm-related deaths.

The storm that swept from the Southwest on Monday gave New England its second major storm in four days.

Snow, sleet, slush, and rain closed roads and schools, knocked down power lines and disrupted air traffic along much of the East Coast.

The storm combined with arctic air to cause natural gas shortages in the South, with the Tennessee Valley Authority issuing an appeal to residential customers to cut down on their use of electricity.

Meanwhile, in Florida, tornadoes spawned by the cold moving from the Northwest ripped roofs off buildings and dropped temperatures into the teens in some areas.

Forecasters predicted a hard freeze for northern and central parts of the state, and the farming and poultry industries were warned to take precautions against damage.

Winds toppled trees from Orlando to Tampa on the Gulf Coast.

No injuries were reported.

The low pressure system that carried snow into the Northeast Monday moved into the Montreal area late in the day, building drifts up to 15 feet.

Storm watches continued today across northern Maine and a blizzard warning remained in effect across western New York. Travel advisories continued across western Pennsylvania, Ohio, eastern Kentucky and portions of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

Snow also was scattered early today from the Northern Plains into the Northern Rockies.

Temperatures overnight ranged from -30 at Alexandria, Minn., to 63 at Key West, Fla.

Twin City Trooper Wins In Close Race With Stork

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

A state trooper of the Benton Harbor post reported he escorted a pregnant 17-year-old girl to a hospital 35 seconds before she gave birth to a 7-pound boy Monday morning. Trooper James J. Bos was stopped at an intersection in Benton Harbor at 10:40 a.m. when an unidentified woman pulled her car behind his and shouted for help, he said. The woman told Bos there was a girl having a baby in her car, he said. The trooper rushed to the auto and found the girl on the back seat. Bos said he determined that there was enough time before the birth to get the girl to Mercy hospital, one mile away. The trooper, followed by the woman in the other car, used his radio to call the hospital as he led the way to Mercy. Hospital attendants met the girl and rushed her to the delivery room just in time for the birth. The hospital reported this morning the girl is not married.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

It's A Murky Economic Game Plan

Throughout much of 1976 and heavily concentrated in the Presidential campaign period, many forecasters were comparing the economy's course to a traffic light. It had opened the year on a green light and then in mid year the signal had switched to yellow. Did this portend red to be the next sequence or were the green and yellow control wires inexplicably shorting themselves?

This uncertainty laid upon the high unemployment rate gave a greatly needed lift to Jimmy Carter's campaign.

Even before he secured the Democratic nomination, Georgia's ex-governor was hammering heavily on the theme that something had to be done to get the economy moving faster.

Since his election and in its aftermath of selecting top aides and referred to the economy as stagnant.

The year-end statistics do not support the description. They definitely show the green to yellow alarm was false, but Carter is obligated to so many diverse interests that he has to try out a hypodermic needle.

Last week in a conference with the Democratic leadership in Congress he drew a picture of what the needle may look like.

Depending on whether the reader uses the old mathematics or the new math, it shapes around to a $15 billion package which its sponsors say is designed to produce a 6 per cent real growth in the economy and to reduce unemployment by 1.5 per cent from its present 8.1 rate during this year.

The money infusion takes this form. An immediate $7 to $11 billion rebate on 1976 individual income taxes.

A permanent $4 billion reduction in personal income tax rates.

A $2 billion cut in corporate taxes.

A $2 billion increase in job creating opportunities.

A $1 billion boost in federal revenue sharing.

The individual tax reductions will favor the low and middle income taxpayer.

The context of the corporate tax relief has yet to be decided upon.

When Carter and the Congressional leadership talk of stimulating the economy by a 6 per cent real gain, they presuppose the inflation rate will remain constant. Since inflation has shown a minimum 6 per cent annual gain for the past few years, this would require 1977 to run 12 per ahead of 1976.

That is a sizeable cud for bossy to chew and most of the government's senior economists are saying privately that Jimmy is whistling Dixie to suggest, much less think, that sort of miracle can be accomplished by a stroke of the pen.

Rumors leaking from last week's conference hint that the consensus announced by Carter was not reached without considerable hair pulling.

Carter emphasized the tax cut approach over the jobs bill and further revenue sharing.

Many in the Congressional delegation, though not vehemently opposed to the tax reductions, particularly for individuals, strongly favored more money for jobs and the more liberal members pressed hard for beefing up revenue sharing. They represent the larger metropolitan centers hardest hit by unemployment.

The target date for the plan is April 1st, sooner unless contending elements in Congress dispute too vigorously what Carter described as a gentlemen's agreement.

Reaction from economic counselors in the private sector takes a favoring trend at the moment.

While not putting much faith in the pump priming for more jobs, most of them feel the long range reduction in tax rates can be helpful.

Like their counterparts in the government, they do not believe the predicted result for 1977 will meet the stated goal, but view the Carter plan as rewarding to move the upturn into 1978.

Somewhat strangely, the private sector pays little heed to the fact that deficit spending by Washington is the fuel keeping inflation warm.

It may be the private advisors feel as we do. We hope Carter's plan works or, at least, does not come a cropper. If it should, then something worse will be tried.

Mondale's Set Behind Scenes

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It may well be that President-elect Jimmy Carter has found the ideal spot for Walter Mondale: the inner sanctum of the White House.

By all the evidence, the new vice president is an "inside" man. He likes working behind the scenes where the levers are, in a post which guarantees him personal credit and publicity when he desires it, but free of public knock-down fights ever policy.

As "chief staff person," Mondale will be able to shuttle tough problems gracefully to others, and wait to determine which issues are popular before going out on a limb with his stamp of approval.

And he will have the forceful President Carter as his shield so long as he keeps one step to the side and one to the rear of him. This Mondale does to Mr. Carter's satisfaction. The president-elect has made it clear, publicly and privately, that he considers Mondale as no rival — and no threat — which he most certainly is not.

Mondale will take pains to alienate no one in the White House or in the Congress. He will come forward at 1000 Pennsylvania Avenue, as he did on Capitol Hill, as the sponsor, publicly giving the credit to Mr. and Mrs. Carter on the motherhood issues no one can fault — hunger, concern for children, the handicapped, the poor and the unemployed — but steering clear of the rough economic measures which any president must stab at solving, and which create opposition.

Overall, Mondale, insofar as this means Mr. Carter may not be able to count on Mondale to take the public lead in the kind of all-out fighting the new president has promised if it's necessary to get the bills he wants through a reluctant Senate and House of Representatives. Mr. Carter may have to go over the heads of balky congressmen to the people.

State GOP Leader Backs Capital Punishment Drive

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis has called for the death penalty in Michigan, saying criminals have been cuddled

Lending his support to a petition drive to place the issue on the 1978 ballot, Davis said Monday "we ought to give it a try" in an attempt to cut down on violent crime.

Davis said he expects Holmes will get enough signatures to put the question on the ballot and open the issue to public debate. "The issue ought to be punishment would work. But, he said, "We've cuddled the criminal enough, and it's time to get tough."

Davis is the first legislative leader to come out for capital punishment. The petition drive to amend the constitution has been started by state Rep. Kirby Holmes, R-Utica.

Davis said he expects Holmes will get enough signatures to put the question on the ballot and open the issue to public debate. "The issue ought to be debated thoroughly," he said, but repeated he would vote for its approval.

Davis made his comments at a news conference where he detailed some of the top priorities of the new legislative session for minority Republicans.

Among other things, he proposed a statewide hotel-tax to raise money for promotion of tourism.

Under Davis' proposal, a 1 per cent tax would be added to accommodations bills. The extra money — about $1.5 million, he said — would be used for promotion of the Michigan tourist industry outside the state.

It would be added to the $2.2 million Davis said is spent on out-of-state advertising. He said Gov. William Milliken's office is studying the proposal.

Among the other prime issues Davis outlined were:

—Rapid revision of the state's single business tax to ease the burden on small businesses and those not making money. Davis said the tax rate might have to be raised slightly from its present 2.25 per cent to make up for lost revenue.

—Reform of the welfare and worker's compensation programs.

—A "budget stabilization fund" to put money away for a rainy day. But unlike the governor, who wants just a law, Davis said he wants it written into the constitution.

Davis also said he would not support an increased property transfer tax to fund a statewide transportation program, and said he favors raising the drinking age from 18 to 19.

Amin To Invite WWII Straggler

TOKYO (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda is reportedly planning to invite to the Jan. 19 anniversary observance of his rise to power a Japanese World War II straggler who surrendered after hiding out for 29 years.

The Kyodo news service, in a dispatch from Nairobi today, reported Amin said the invitation to the straggler, Hiroo Onoda, "is expected to greatly contribute to raising the morale of Uganda's army."

Jeffrey Hart

with Cuba gains praise from those who demand a more moral stance toward Chile or Iran.

The current $60 million loan to Chile by the International Monetary Fund has been a source of controversy and editorial hand-wringing. We happen now to have outstanding some $20 billion in credits to the Soviet Union and East Europe. This last item is not considered "immoral," except, perhaps, by Solzhenitsyn.

As between India and Chile, the latter turns up on most lists of the morally reprehensible, while India, though embarrassing, does not. Yet both have experienced authoritarian coups and the suppression of domestic dissent. The chief difference appears to be that the Indira Gandhi dictatorship is "left," and, indeed, in formal coalition with the Communist Party, while the Pinochet dictatorship in Chile is "right" and anti-Communist.

Chile has a dreadful international image, Yugoslavia a good one. But does anyone seriously doubt that, today, right now, life is freer in Chile than in Yugoslavia? Does anyone seriously think life is freer in Cuba than in Brazil or Argentina? But every move toward "better relations" with leftist and Communist regimes is understood to be "enlightened."

In these matters as in others, the left has defined the terms of the argument. It has done so with such success that even such conventional politicians as Carter and Vance accept the rules of the rhetorical game.

Ford Drafts Energy Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration has drafted a bill that would set up a new Energy Department, banding together key federal agencies with the aim of boosting the U.S. bid for self-sufficiency in fuels.

A White House announcement due today sets the basis for a bipartisan approach to one of the country's most urgent problems. President-elect Carter had favored setting up a single Energy Department that would bring the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) and the Energy Research Development Administration (ERDA) under one roof.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

It's A Murky Economic Game Plan

Throughout much of 1976 and heavily concentrated in the Presidential campaign period, many forecasters were comparing the economy's course to a traffic light. It had opened the year on a green light and then in mid year the signal had switched to yellow. Did this portend red to be the next sequence or were the green and yellow control wires inexplicably shorting themselves?

This uncertainty laid upon the high unemployment rate gave a greatly needed lift to Jimmy Carter's campaign.

Even before he secured the Democratic nomination, Georgia's ex-governor was hammering heavily on the theme that something had to be done to get the economy moving faster.

Since his election and in its aftermath of selecting top aides and referred to the economy as stagnant.

The year-end statistics do not support the description. They definitely show the green to yellow alarm was false, but Carter is obligated to so many diverse interests that he has to try out a hypodermic needle.

Last week in a conference with the Democratic leadership in Congress he drew a picture of what the needle may look like.

Depending on whether the reader uses the old mathematics or the new math, it shapes around to a $15 billion package which its sponsors say is designed to produce a 6 per cent real growth in the economy and to reduce unemployment by 1.5 per cent from its present 8.1 rate during this year.

The money infusion takes this form. An immediate $7 to $11 billion rebate on 1976 individual income taxes.

A permanent $4 billion reduction in personal income tax rates.

A $2 billion cut in corporate taxes.

A $2 billion increase in job creating opportunities.

A $1 billion boost in federal revenue sharing.

The individual tax reductions will favor the low and middle income taxpayer.

The context of the corporate tax relief has yet to be decided upon.

When Carter and the Congressional

leadership talk of stimulating the economy by a 6 per cent real gain, they presuppose the inflation rate will remain constant. Since inflation has shown a minimum 6 per cent annual gain for the past few years, this would require 1977 to run 12 per ahead of 1976.

That is a sizeable cud for bossy to chew and most of the government's senior economists are saying privately that Jimmy is whistling Dixie to suggest, much less think, that sort of miracle can be accomplished by a stroke of the pen.

Rumors leaking from last week's conference hint that the consensus announced by Carter was not reached without considerable hair pulling.

Carter emphasized the tax cut approach over the jobs bill and further revenue sharing.

Many in the Congressional delegation, though not vehemently opposed to the tax reductions, particularly for individuals, strongly favored more money for jobs and the more liberal members pressed hard for beefing up revenue sharing. They represent the larger metropolitan centers hardest hit by unemployment.

The target date for the plan is April 1st, sooner unless contending elements in Congress dispute too vigorously what Carter described as a gentlemen's agreement.

Reaction from economic counselors in the private sector takes a favoring trend at the moment.

While not putting much faith in the pump priming for more jobs, most of them feel the long range reduction in tax rates can be helpful.

Like their counterparts in the government, they do not believe the predicted result for 1977 will meet the stated goal, but view the Carter plan as rewarding to move the upturn into 1978.

Somewhat strangely, the private sector pays little heed to the fact that deficit spending by Washington is the fuel keeping inflation warm.

It may be the private advisors feel as we do. We hope Carter's plan works or, at least, does not come a cropper. If it should, then something worse will be tried.

punishment would work. But, he said, "We've coddled the criminal enough, and it's time to get tough."

Davis is the first legislative leader to come out for capital punishment. The petition drive to amend the constitution has been started by state Rep. Kirby Holmes, R-Utica.

Davis said he expects Holmes will get enough signatures to put the question on the ballot and open the issue to public debate. "The issue ought to be debated thoroughly," he said, but repeated he would vote for its approval.

Davis made his comments at a news conference where he detailed some of the top priorities of the new legislative session for minority Republicans.

Among other things, he proposed a statewide hotel-tax to raise money for promotion of the Michigan tourist industry outside the state.

Under Davis' proposal, a 1 per cent tax would be added to accommodations bills. The extra money — about $1.5 million, he said — would be used for promotion of the Michigan tourist industry outside the state.

It would be added to the $2.2 million Davis said is spent on out-of-state advertising. He said Gov. William Milliken's office is studying the proposal.

Among the other prime issues Davis outlined were:

—Rapid revision of the state's single business tax to ease the burden on small businesses and those not making money. Davis said the tax rate might have to be raised slightly from its present 2.35 per cent to make up for lost revenue.

—Reform of the welfare and worker's compensation programs.

—A "budget stabilization fund" to put money away for a rainy day. But unlike the governor, who wants just a law, Davis said he wants it written into the constitution.

Davis also said he would not support an increased property transfer tax to fund a statewide transportation program, and said he favors raising the drinking age from 18 to 19.

New Mexican President Has Pacification Job

What is currently being described as one of Mexico's worst land crises since the peasant revolution of 1910 takes another turn on Friday, Jan. 7. A court in Mexico City is expected that day to rule on the legality of land seizures carried out by former President Luis Echeverria Alvarez. On the eve of his departure from office on Dec. 1, Echeverria ordered 250,000 acres in the Sonora state's fertile Yaqui Valley turned over to landless peons. Government authorities aided the orderly occupation of part of the expropriated area by peasant groups. The seizure was aimed at Mexico's conservative, wealthy minority, in whose ranks were bitter critics of Echeverria.

At the time Echeverria acted, Mexico was already reeling from a sudden 40 per cent decline in the peso's value. Inflation approached 30 per cent, and the middle class complained of over-taxation. Peasant groups outside of Sonora resented their exclusion from the expropriation, and the press reported unauthorized peasant takeovers of private land in Sinaloa state. Echeverria's land transfer edict was condemned by business interests, who openly questioned whether the fragile Mexican economy could withstand its aftereffects.

Echeverria's hand-picked successor, Jose Lopez Portillo, sought in his inaugural address to cool the heated political climate. "Let us strive to put an end to hate, rancor, fear and impatience," Lopez Portillo cautioned. "Our first task is to get hold of ourselves and put an end to panic, stricken and frantic activity." The new leader has since pursued this theme of reconciliation, urging peons, landowners, and other constituent groups to resolve their differences without requiring government intervention.

It should be easy for him to pacify the peasants who got the land. But he'll prove himself a real miracle worker if he can also pacify those who lost it.

Mondale's Set Behind Scenes

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It may well be that President-elect Jimmy Carter has found the ideal spot for Walter Mondale: the inner sanctum of the White House.

By all the evidence, the new vice president is an "inside" man. He likes working behind the scenes where the levers are, in a post which guarantees him personal credit and publicity when he desires it, but free of public "knock-down" fights over policy.

As "chief staff person," Mondale will be able to shuttle tough problems gracefully to others, and wait to determine which issues are popular before going out on a limb with his stamp of approval.

And he will have the forceful President Carter as his shield so long as he keeps one step to the side and one to the rear of him. This Mondale does to Mr. Carter's satisfaction. The president-elect has made it clear, publicly and privately, that he considers Mondale as no rival — and no threat — which he most certainly is not.

Mondale will take pains to alienate no one in the White House or in the Congress. He will come forward at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, as he did on Capitol Hill, as the sponsor, publicly giving the thumbs up to Mr. and Mrs. Carter on the motherhood issues no one can fault — hunger, concern for children, the handicapped, the poor and the unemployed — but steering clear of the rough economic measures which any president must stab at solving, and which create opposition.

Overall, Mondale, insofar as

Mr. Carter pays him heed, will add a strain of caution to the Carter White House. He will be a conciliator, a smoother of conflicts between staff members, and between the White House and selected senators and congressmen.

Mondale is a superb technician, an expert at guiding long-shot legislation further along the road than most expert observers have been willing to predict in advance. If he can pass this expertise along to members of the Carter White House staff when Carter-backed legislation is in the works, Mondale will prove an important asset in the Carter reformation-reorganization campaign.

Based on past performance, Mondale will use the vice presidency and his White House staff role as a vehicle for securing as much publicity for himself as Mr. Carter will tolerate graciously. For it is clear, thus far at least, that Mondale, who is not yet over the hill in years, is thinking about the presidency in 1984, as he did in 1976 — but only, it's understood, if he can get the nomination without the rough primaries and tough campaigning typical of the contests Mr. Carter went through to achieve that goal.

This means Mr. Carter may not be able to count on Mondale to take the public lead in the kind of all-out fighting the new president has promised if it's necessary to get the bills he wants through a reluctant Senate and House of Representatives. Mr. Carter may have to go over the heads of balky congressmen to the people.

During the Carter presidential campaign and also since the election, we have heard a great deal about the need for "moral" in our foreign policy. Recently Jimmy Carter himself as well as Secretary of State-designate Cyrus Vance have spoken about this, both of them mentioning Chile and South Korea as potential prime beneficiaries of our new and more moral policies.

Almost simultaneously, Carter's choice for UN ambassador, Andrew Young, spoke of the need for a "strong Vietnam" as a counterweight to the Chinese and the Soviets in Southeast Asia. That is, U.S. policy should be benevolently disposed toward the regime in Hanoi, granting it, perhaps, not only diplomatic recognition but economic aid.

These contradictions are extremely illuminating. As usual, talk about "morality" masks an ideological slant. These spokesmen, indeed, need not even subscribe to the ideology. They merely understand what "sounds" moral and goes down well with "enlightened" opinion.

If you ask an exponent of morality in foreign policy what is actually meant by morality in foreign policy, the answer is usually couched in terms of concern for human rights. If you ask what we should do to be more moral, the answer — as with Carter and Vance — is to put pressure on, for example, Chile. South Africa sometimes is mentioned, but most often not: its example is too outrageous to require it.

However, soberly considered, neither Chile nor South Africa, nor, for that matter, Brazil and Argentina, would rank at the top of the list of violators of human rights. Both the Chinese and the Soviets would be at or near the top — though both might well be outdone in barbarism by the newly liberated countries of central Africa.

None of these Communist or Third World countries, however, seems to turn up on any of the lists of countries we must put pressure upon in the interest of a more moral foreign policy. As a matter of fact, "better relations" with both the Soviets and the Chinese, as well as with the "Third World," gains applause as the mark of an enlightened foreign policy. Any diplomatic move toward better relations is, in effect, a "moral" move.

In these matters as in others, the left has defined the terms of the argument. It has done so with such success that even such conventional politicians as Carter and Vance accept the rules of the rhetorical game.

Ford Drafts Energy Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration due today sets the basis for a bipartisan approach to one of the country's most urgent problems. President-elect Carter had favored setting up a single Energy Department that would bring the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) and the Energy Research Development Administration (ERDA) under one roof.

BH, SJ Join In Ambulance Service Plan

TOASTMASTERS HONORED: Mrs. Eleanor Hornschad, who in 1973 became the first woman member of the Whirlpool Toastmasters club, was recently elected president of the club. At the same meeting George Craven was given the club's "Toastmaster of the Year" award. Other officers for the coming year are Roger Larsen, educational vice president; Chet Wasilak, administrative vice president; Dick Seymour, secretary; Mike Semercian, treasurer; Dennis Hansen, sergeant at arms.

The Cities of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph have become the third and fourth municipalities to join a proposed publicly-owned ambulance company that would serve the Twin Cities and adjacent townships.

Both Benton Harbor and St. Joseph city commissions voted last night to join the Community Emergency Service (CES) corporation which has proposed operating the publicly-owned ambulance company covering 10 municipalities.

The Benton Harbor city commission, however, made its approval last night subject to three conditions — use of the southside fire station in Benton Harbor by CES, an affirmative action policy in hiring employees for the ambulance company, and a change in the rate structure charged to patients.

The St. Joseph city commission approved payment of $15,280 to CES for its share of costs for operating the ambulance company for one year and for "start-up" costs.

Benton township and St. Joseph township have already voted to join CES. The townships of Royalton, Sodus, Lincoln, Oronoko and Berrien and the Village of Berrien Springs, have yet to take action on the ambulance issue.

Benton Harbor Commissioner Edmund Eaman said the city wants CES to use the southside fire station on Empire avenue as one of the bases for the new ambulance company. He said the city could then deduct costs for rent, utilities, maintenance and other costs it would provide at the station from its proposed subsidy to CES.

The Benton Harbor city commission's resolution also asked that CES consider establishing an affirmative action policy to provide for the employment of women and minorities representative of the areas served. It also asked that the proposed rate structure be changed from a flat rate structure to a fee based on a flat rate plus mileage.

Eaman said the commission will vote on payment of its share of the costs for the new ambulance company at a later meeting. As proposed by CES, Benton Harbor's share would be $18,129 plus start-up costs of $4,532.

CES has projected that it will cost $208,200 annually to operate the ambulance company for the entire 10 municipalities, with income coming from municipal contributions and fees charged for use.

The 10 units would pay a total of $96,360 in subsidy and $24,090 in start up costs. The subsidy is figured at a rate of $1.10 for each person living in a municipality. The four municipalities which have voted to join CES make up more than 65 per cent of the funding of the ambulance company because of their larger populations.

The publicly-owned ambulance company would replace service currently offered by commercial firms. The five municipalities that currently belong to CES, the City of St. Joseph and townships of Sodus, Lincoln, Royalton and St. Joseph, currently provide a subsidy to Action ambulance. Benton Harbor and Benton township provide "in-kind" services to Rampart ambulance.

St. Joseph City Manager Gerald Heppeler said last night that St. Joseph will be able to use $12,000 it has budgeted to pay Action ambulance during the 1976-1977 fiscal year.

In other action, the commission approved a request by Twin City Cab Lines for licenses to operate two more taxi cabs in Benton Harbor. Twin City Cab Line will now have licenses to operate a total of seven cabs in the city.

Al Chase, Benton Harbor economic development director, said the city would provide staff and clerical services to the

BH To Form Economic Development Corporation

The Benton Harbor city commission took the first step last night toward the formation of an Economic Development corporation to foster business and industrial growth in Benton Harbor.

The commission set a public hearing Jan. 31 on a request by eight Benton Harbor businesses to form the Economic Development corporation.

Empowered by a 1974 state act, economic development corporations can acquire land and buildings for private development, issue tax-exempt revenue bonds, and accept governmental grants and private funds.

Commissioner Michael Govatos, chairman of the commission's economic development committee, said last night formation of the corporation would aid the city by increasing employment and the city's tax base.

Request for the establishment of the quasi-public corporation was made by Percy Carr, Johnny's Fashions; Don Clark, Gardner's Sports and Marine; Leon Gideon, Barentsen Candy Co.; Victor Greer, Durable Products; Vic McKinney, Discount Furniture and Appliances; John Rowdy, manager of K-mart; Robert Small, Inter-City bank; and Richard Whiteman, Farmers & Merchants National bank.

The eight businesses will become members of the voluntary board of directors of the Economic Development corporation, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr.

The Benton Harbor Economic Development corporation will be formed under the same state act and operate in the same manner as the Berrien county Economic Development corporation which was formed in April, 1975, according to Farmer. The county and city corporations may work together on some development projects, Farmer said.

One of the goals of establishing the Economic Development corporation, according to Farmer, is to obtain lower than normal interest rates for financing projects.

Farmer said it is hoped bonds will be issued by the corporation at low interest rates because of their tax-exempt status.

Al Chase, Benton Harbor economic development director, said the city would provide staff and clerical services to the Economic Development corporation through the city's economic development department.

The proposed Economic Development corporation would also be complementary to the already existing United Community Development Corporation under contract with the city, according to Chase. Chase said the UCDC, formed in June, 1975, can provide loans with a portion of the city's Community Development funds to businesses for rehabilitation and capital while the proposed Economic Development corporation can sell revenue bonds.

The commission also approved a contract with the UCDC last night to provide $65,000 to the local development company for loans to businesses. The $65,000 is part of $100,000 that was budgeted for UCDC in the city's second-year Community Development grant. Commissioner Govatos said the UCDC spent only $33,000 of the $100,000 it was budgeted and the commission action will allow UCDC to spend the remainder during the 1977-1978 fiscal year.

In other action, the commission approved a request by Twin City Cab Lines for licenses to operate two more taxi cabs in Benton Harbor. Twin City Cab Line will now have licenses to operate a total of seven cabs in the city.

Ice, Snow Hike Area Smashups

Twin Cities area law enforcement officers policed 55 traffic accidents, mostly caused by icy roads and blowing snow that hindered visibility, during a 30-hour period up to 6 a.m. today.

Eight people sustained minor injuries in five of the crashes, police reported.

A Michigan State police patrol car, parked and containing the occupants of another car involved in an accident that the trooper was investigating, was struck by a sliding car Monday at 3:30 p.m.

Barbara Byrd, 21, of Flint, an occupant of the patrol car, was injured when the squad car was struck from behind by a car driven by James D. Curtis, 28, of Warren. According to Trooper Doug Murphy, his patrol car was parked in the median of I-94, in Lincoln township, when it was struck.

Curtis was traveling eastbound on I-94 and approached the accident scene at about 45 miles an hour, Murphy reported. His car slid across two lanes and struck the police car.

Barbara Byrd was treated and released from Mercy hospital for back pain, the trooper said.

Murder Suspect Pleads Innocent

Gregory J. Terro, Jr., 23, pleaded innocent to an open charge of murder in the death of Mrs. Norma Givens Mathews when arraigned yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

After the arraignment, Judge Leo S. Bartels suspended Terro to the county jail without bond to await trial. He is accused of killing Mrs. Mathews, 52, on Oct. 17 at her home at 222 Bradford drive, Fairplain, where he was allegedly a boarder. Her body was found Oct. 24 in her house.

Also during arraignment, a defense motion for appointment of psychiatrists to determine if an insanity defense can be used was assigned to Judge Julian E. Hughes for a hearing at a later date.

Terro was bound over to circuit court after waiving examination in district court. Terro was arrested Dec. 10 in Florida, and court records show he gave a statement to authorities at the time of the arrest.

The St. Joseph city commission last night unanimously approved a two-mill tax levy for properties in the downtown development district which is expected to generate some $10,000 to finance downtown improvements.

The levy is for one year and will appear on the summer, 1977, taxes, according to commissioners. The assessment was sought by the St. Joseph Downtown Development authority.

The authority was created under state statute, and a vote of the people is not required for the commission to impose a tax on property within the authority's boundaries. City Manager G.W. Heppeler stressed the tax is only for properties within the district and will not be levied on the rest of the city.

Heppeler estimated the levy will raise between $10,000 and $10,500 based on the current equalized valuation of the district, which he said is $5,196,476. The valuation figure includes both real and personal property, Heppeler added.

The levy will expire after the summer tax collection, and Commissioner Joseph Hanley noted that if the authority wants to continue the tax levy, the authority would again need commission approval.

Authority members previously said the funds from the tax will help develop initial plans for downtown development and also pay the salaries of the development director, the authority's attorney, and consultant fees.

Last week, the authority hired Steven A. Reed, president of Telgroup consulting firm, as director.

The development district is an irregularly shaped area, with the core a rectangle formed by Lake, Elm, Main and Ship streets, plus several smaller parcels adjoining the main part of the district.

The authority has said the money from the tax would help curb property value deterioration and increase some property tax valuations.

In another matter, the commission approved a revised resolution forming a board of harbor commissioners, already approved by the county board of commissioners. The original resolution was also approved by Benton Harbor, but the revised form has not yet been considered by that city.

Essentially, the resolution forms the harbor board for planning for development and promotion of the St. Joseph river harbor. It differs from the original by adding an amendment saying any other municipality which may want to participate in the planning can do so.

In other matters, the commission:

—Referred to the planning commission a request by Ben Teitel, representing Lakewood Enterprises, South Haven, for a lot split for land around where Lakewood Ravine Manor apartments are being built at 2800 Cleveland avenue.

The new apartments, and Berrien Manor apartments, at 2800 Cleveland, and Lakewood apartments, at 3000 Lake Shore drive, all owned by Teitel, are currently all on the same lot, according to Heppeler. Action requests a split from one lot to four so that there are separate tax and lot descriptions for each of the properties.

—Granted a 30-day extension to Floria Beles on his request to rezone two lots at 222 and 224 Vail court from single family to commercial for an office building. Beles had asked for the extension, according to the commission, to circulate petitions among nearby property owners and attempt to get their consent for the rezoning.

—Awarded a contract for fuel and heavy oils for city use, excluding gasoline, to Pri-Mar Petroleum of St. Joseph for the firm's bid of $7,588.

—Heard Mayer Franklin Smith proclaim Jan. 16 to 22 a Jaycees Week in St. Joseph.

—Listened to, but took no action on, a presentation from John Calsbeck, of 820 Lake boulevard, representing the Lake Buff Preservation Association. Calsbeck said the association is opposed to proposed changes to widen Lake boulevard and basically wants to keep the area "as is."

SJ 'Fire' Turns Out To Be Ice

The St. Joseph fire department answered an automatic fire alarm at a warehouse yesterday and found that cold weather had frozen a pipe and set off a sprinkler system alarm.

Firemen reported they responded to an automatic fire alarm system linked to the fire station from the Ireland and Lester warehouses at 200 North Wayne street at 3:30 p.m. Water in a pipe in the sprinkler system froze and broke the pipe setting off the alarm, firemen reported. The fire department assisted in shutting off the water to the sprinkler system.

BH To Form Economic Development Corporation

The Benton Harbor city commission took the first step last night toward the formation of an Economic Development corporation to foster business and industrial growth in Benton Harbor.

The commission set a public hearing Jan. 31 on a request by eight Benton Harbor businessmen to form the Economic Development corporation.

Empowered by a 1974 state act, economic development corporations can acquire land and buildings for private development, issue tax-exempt revenue bonds, and accept governmental grants and private funds.

Commissioner Michael Govatos, chairman of the commission's economic development committee, said last night formation of the corporation would aid the city by increasing employment and the city's tax base.

Request for the establishment of the quasi-public corporation was made by Percy Carr, Johnny's Fashions; Don Clark, Gardner's Sports and Marine; Leon Gideon, Barentsen Candy Co.; Victor Greer, Durable Products; Vic McKinney, Discount Furniture and Appliances; John Rowdy, manager of K-mart; Robert Small, Inter-City bank, and Richard Whiteman, Farmers & Merchants National bank.

The eight businessmen will become members of the voluntary board of directors of the Economic Development corporation, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr.

The Benton Harbor Economic Development corporation will be formed under the same state act and operate in the same manner as the Berrien County Economic Development corporation which was formed in April, 1975, according to Farmer. The county and city corporations may work together on some development projects, Farmer said.

One of the goals of establishing the Economic Development corporation, according to Farmer, is to obtain lower than normal interest rates for financing projects. Farmer said it is hoped bonds will be sold by the corporation at low interest rates because of their tax-exempt status.

Barbara Byrd was treated and released from Mercy hospital for back pains, the trooper said.

Economic Development corporation through the city's economic development department.

The proposed Economic Development corporation would also be complementary to the already existing United Community Development Corporation under contract with the city, according to Chase. Chase said the UCDC, formed in June, 1975, can provide loans with a portion of the city's Community Development funds to businesses for rehabilitation and capital while the proposed Economic Development corporation can sell revenue bonds.

The commission also approved a contract with the UCDC last night to provide $65,000 to the local development company for loans to businesses. The $65,000 is part of $100,000 that was budgeted for UCDC in the city's second-year Community Development grant. Commissioner Govatos said the UCDC spent only $35,000 of the $100,000 it was budgeted and the commission action will allow UCDC to spend the remainder during the 1977-1978 fiscal year.

In other action, the commission approved a request by Twin City Cab Lines for licenses to operate two more taxi cabs in Benton Harbor. Twin City Cab Line will now have licenses to operate a total of seven cabs in the city.

The publicly-owned ambulance company would replace service currently offered by commercial firms. The five municipalities that currently belong to CES, the City of St. Joseph and townships of Sodus, Lincoln, Royalton and St. Joseph, currently provide a subsidy to Action ambulance.

Benton Harbor and Benton township provide "in-kind" services to Rampart ambulance.

St. Joseph City Manager Gerald Heppler said last night that St. Joseph will be able to use $12,000 it has budgeted to pay Action ambulance during the 1976-1977 fiscal year for its share of costs for the new ambulance company. He said the remainder could come from federal revenue sharing funds.

The authority has said the money from the tax would help curb property value deterioration and increase some property tax valuations.

The levy is for one year and will appear on the summer, 1977, taxes, according to commissioners.

The assessment was sought by the St. Joseph Downtown Development authority.

The authority was created under state statute, and a vote of the people is not required for the commission to impose a tax on property within the authority's boundaries.

City Manager G.W. Heppler stressed the tax is only for properties within the district and will not be levied on the rest of the city.

Heppler estimated the levy will raise between $10,000 and $10,500 based on the current equalized valuation of the district, which he said is $5,196,476.

The valuation figure includes both real and personal property, Heppler added.

Twin Cities area law enforcement officers policed 55 traffic accidents, mostly caused by icy roads and blowing snow that hindered visibility, during a 30-hour period up to 6 a.m. today.

Eight people sustained minor injuries in five of the crashes, police reported.

A Michigan State police patrol car, parked and containing the occupants of another car involved in an accident that the trooper was investigating, was struck by a sliding car Monday at 5:30 p.m.

Barbara Byrd, 21, of Flint, an occupant of the patrol car, was injured when the squad car was struck from behind by a car driven by James D. Curtis, 29, of Warren. According to Trooper Doug Murphy, his patrol car, was parked in the middle of I-94, in Lincoln township, when it was struck.

Curtis was traveling eastbound on I-94 and approached the accident scene at about 45 miles an hour, Murphy reported. His car slid across two lanes and struck the police car.

Barbara Byrd was treated and released from Mercy hospital for back pains, the trooper said.

Murder Suspect Pleads Innocent

Gregory J. Teron, Jr., 23, pleaded innocent to an open charge of murder in the death of Mrs. Norma Granzow Maxham when arraigned yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

After the arraignment, Judge Zoe S. Burkholz remanded Teron to the county jail without bond to await trial. He is accused of killing Mrs. Maxham, 73, on Oct. 17 at her home at 232 Bradford drive, Fairplain, where he was allegedly a boarder. Her body was found Oct. 24 in the home.

Also during arraignment, a defense motion for appointment of psychiatrists to determine if an insanity defense can be used was assigned to Judge Julian E. Hughes for a hearing at a later date.

Teron was bound over to circuit court after waiving examination in district court. Teron was arrested Dec. 10 in Florida, and court records show he gave a statement to authorities at the time of the arrest.

SJ 'Fire' Turns Out To Be Ice

The St. Joseph fire department answered an automatic fire alarm at a warehouse yesterday and found that cold weather had frozen a pipe and set off a sprinkler system alarm.

Firemen responded to an automatic fire alarm system linked to the fire station from the Ireland and Lester warehouse at 200 North Wayne street at 3:45 p.m. Water in a pipe in the sprinkler system froze and broke the pipe setting off the alarm, firemen reported. The fire department assisted in shutting off the water to the sprinkler system.

COLOMA — Seven letters to a Coloma resident, written during the Civil War period, are among the collection of keepsakes now belonging to Donald Crowley, a Coloma township police dispatcher.

Old script type writing and phrases of the 1860s are used in the letters to Marcus Osgood of Coloma. All the letters are in excellent condition despite their age.

Crowley found the letters in an attic of a house at 229 Brumson, Benton Harbor, in 1928.

"I didn't know what to do with them," Crowley says, "and I can't bring myself to just throw them away."

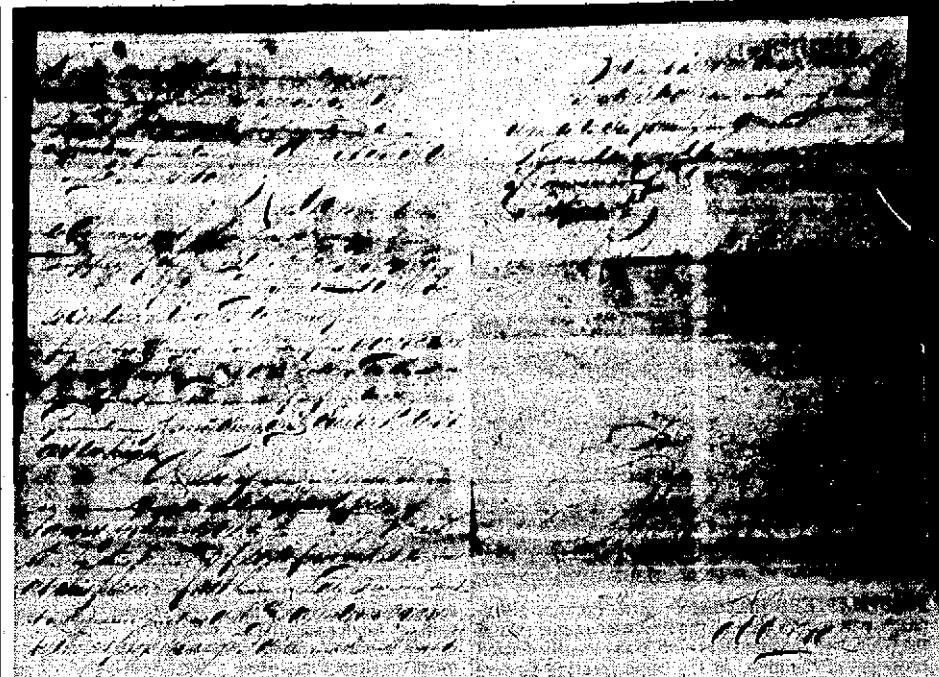

Crowley has attempted to research the reason the letters to a Coloma resident were at a Benton Harbor residence. He has discovered that "in the late 1860s and early 1880s, a leading citizen of the Benton Harbor area was a Malon Osgood, a saloon operator, who is believed to be a brother of Marcus Osgood, the recipient of the letters."

"Although it's difficult at times to identify a word in the letters," Crowley says, "I find myself fascinated with the events outlined in the letters and have read and re-read them."

In one letter, a union soldier in Tennessee during the Civil War tells Osgood about the way the north looks over a rebel camp around noon — counterattacks by the Confederates continued on during day and night with the rebels regaining control of their camp 24 hours later.

Stamps on the envelopes, with their 1860s postmarks, include one marked especially for use

"If he has and you will be so condescending as to secure for me some five or six quires, I will amply reward you for all trouble and will either call or send for it in the course of a few days, providing and permitting the creek don't get high."

Crowley kept the old letters and other keepsakes of the by-gone days, including old invitations to grand floral balls, in a bank safety deposit box and plans to see if the area's historical organizations would be interested in displaying them to the public.

Planning Ahead Assures Tasty Meals For Singles

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The number of Americans under 35 who maintain households alone has doubled from 1970 to 1975 — from about one and one-half to three million — according to the United States Census.

Yet many singles eat "junk food" or eat out because they think they cannot shop and cook for one person, says Lib Underwood, chief home economist for R.R. Foods, Inc., here. "But with planning and a little effort, these people can enjoy good food in their homes," she adds.

The supermarket is family-oriented, but Underwood says that the singles' freezer is the great equalizer. She suggests considering these tips:

— Get in the habit of freezing portions of homemade dishes.

Give Packable Lingerie Cases

Packable lingerie cases make practical gifts, especially when sewn of washable fabrics!

Make a set of three cases — two inches by twelve inches, twelve inches by fifteen inches and thirteen by seventeen inches — by purchasing one-half yard each of three different 36-inch color coordinated fabrics. Select zippers to match.

Fill Orange With Fruit

Fill scooped out orange halves with fruit cocktail topped with a sprig of mint.

Good with meat or as light dessert.

She recommends the use of specialized plastic containers to store produce and other perishables. For example, a head of lettuce that would spoil in a week will keep for two or three weeks in a crisper.

The single person should avoid buying more than is needed just to take advantage of the cheaper prices that many stores offer for quantity purchases.

Enjoy the variety of quality frozen dinners and vegetables. Everything from Chinese and Mexican dinners to baked potatoes is available at modest prices.

The single shopper is at a disadvantage when it comes to fresh produce and other food that cannot be frozen. Due to singles' less predictable life styles, food often spoils before it can be used, says Underwood.

One essential item for both the family cook and the single person is a full complement of spices and prepared sauces, Underwood says. Often a dash of soy sauce, hot pepper sauce or sweet and sour can save a ruined dish.

Another must is a good cookbook designed with the single in mind," Underwood noted.

Other useful options for the person who lives alone are microwave ovens, which save cooking time; blenders for fresh fruit drinks for fast, healthful breakfasts and broiler-ovens, which use less electricity than a full-size electric oven.

New Look

FOR PARTIES: One shoulder mate jersey gown has an attached stole to provide semi-formal illusion. New fashions get women out of the hard man-tailored look with an opportunity to be heroine types once again.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Civil War Action Described In Old Letters

CIVIL WAR LETTERS: These letters written during the Civil War period to Coloma resident Marcus Osgood are among keepsakes of Donald Crowley's.

COLOMA — Seven letters to a Coloma resident, written during the Civil War period, are among the collection of keepsakes now belonging to Donald Crowley, a Coloma township police dispatcher.

Old script type writing and phrases of the 1800s are used in the letters to Marcus Osgood of Coloma. All the letters are in excellent condition despite their ages.

Crowley found the letters in an attic of a house at 279 Brunson, Benton Harbor, in 1928. "I didn't know what to do with them," Crowley says, "and I can't bring myself to just throw them away."

Crowley has attempted to research the reason the letters to a Coloma resident were at a Benton Harbor residence. He has discovered that "in the late 1800s and early 1900s, a leading citizen of the Benton Harbor area was a Malon Osgood, a saloon operator, who is believed to be a brother of Marcus Osgood, the recipient of the letters."

"Although it's difficult at times to identify a word in the letters," Crowley says, "I find myself fascinated with the events outlined in the letters and have read and re-read them."

Stamps on the envelopes, with their 1860s postmarks, include one marked especially for use

SIGNED 'WING': Old script style of writing is used in this letter to a Marcus Osgood of Coloma from "Wing," a teacher. Letter, written in 1866, is among by soldiers during wartime.

Letters from men named LeVincent, Samuel Harris, Henry Martin, and a letter signed only as "Wing" are among the writers to Osgood. Only five of the letters have legible dates. They are April 28, 1864; April 25, 1863; Jan. 13, 1864; Feb. 4, 1864, and Feb. 11, 1863.

The letter from LeVincent, dated Aug. 3, 1864, from Camp David, Md., contained the following message: "I would like to hear of the fall of Charleston, I think when that place falls the rebels will (unreadable), and I can't see what they will have to hold to, after that place is gone. There is deserters coming in every day, so I suppose there ain't half as many comes here as there is at other places. They all tell one story that the confederacy is gone up. They come in two and three together."

"They have to scatter in areas to get away. I am glad to hear that they captured old Morgan and his force. He didn't make much, going into the north."

The letter is signed with a postscript: "Mark: If the draft goes off there, write who is drafted. I hope they will get men enough to put this rebellion down this time. What do you think about England and France. Do you think they are going to interfere in this war. They had better mind their own business."

Crowley has concluded the writer in the letter signed "Wing" was a teacher in the mid-1800s and apparently was teaching in Coloma prior to relocating.

In the letter, dated April 28, 1866, "Wing" says: "This morning as you will perceive by the heading on my letter finds me hauled up in the great city of Berrian."

"I shall open school here this evening, have 25 pupils engaged at $3 each, will perhaps receive seven letters over 100 years old found nearly 50 years ago by Donald Crowley, Coloma township police dispatcher. (Cliff Stevens photos)

Make a set of three cases — nine inches by twelve inches, twelve inches by fifteen inches and thirteen by seventeen inches — by purchasing one-half yard each of three different 36-inch color coordinated fabrics. Select zippers to match.

Cut fabric into two pieces, for each case. Add five-eighths inch to dimensions for seam allowance. Cut the front of each case and one and one-quarter inch wider than back for room to stitch the zipper. Cut the front piece in half lengthwise and apply zipper. With right-sides together, stitch front to case back. Trim seams and corners. Turn cases to right side; press.

Fill Orange With Fruit

Fill scooped out orange halves with fruit cocktail topped with a sprig of mint.

Good with meat or as light dessert.

She recommends the use of specialized plastic containers to store produce and other perishables. For example, a head of lettuce that would spoil in a week will keep for two or three weeks in a crisper.

The single person should avoid buying more than is needed just to take advantage of the cheaper prices that many stores offer for quantity purchases. It's better to pay more and use everything than to throw spoiled food away.

Remember, meat should be frozen or used within two days, most produce begins to spoil after a week in the refrigerator and dairy products will begin to sour within a few days of the printed last-day-of-purchase date.

One essential item for both the family cook and the single person is a full complement of spices and prepared sauces, Underwood says. Often a dash of soy sauce, hot pepper sauce or sweet and sour can save a mundane dish.

Regaining Popularity

MAKING COMEBACK: Public demand for lace curtains began dwindling 30 years ago but the curtains are now making a comeback. Curtains were popular before the vogue of venetian blinds and draw draperies swept the country. Many of today's curtains are wrinkle-resistant and free-hanging. They are treated for soil-release and are machine washable, drip-dry and permanent press to maintain maximum beauty with minimum care. Two popular patterns today are Garden Flowers and Floreal.

will serve as the keynote speaker at Southwestern Michigan college's Women's Day Tuesday, Jan. 18.

Her talk, entitled, "What Are You Doing The Best Of Your Life?" will urge women not to underestimate their potential, and will discuss the expanding opportunities today's women faces.

Mrs. Cooper has an extensive background in radio broadcasting, writing and promotion, as well as experience as entertainment editor, columnist and drama critic for The Daily Star, Niles.

In addition, she has been actively involved in various theatre organizations most of her adult life, including acting, advising and direction. She has a strong interest in music, and has studied music since early childhood. She plays several instruments, including acting as organist for Wesley United Methodist church, Niles.

Mrs. Cooper is the first and only woman on the Four Flags Area Chamber of Commerce, and is a commissioner on the Four Flags Area Bicentennial Commission, as well as being a member of the Niles Business and Professional Women's association, the Niles Service League, and is a past president of the Ladies Reading club.

Other civic activities included service on the Niles Library board, the YMCA board of directors and the Berrien County Youth Fair board entertainment committee.

Here's a tasty idea guaranteed to refresh.

Stir in two tablespoons Creme de Menthe into a bowl of canned fruit cocktail, in its syrup, and refrigerate overnight. Gently mix in cubes of lime (green) gelatin and serve in chilled goblets.

Sorry about that!

The big HUMMEL shipment we promised you in time for Christmas didn't make it, but we have it now and invite you to come in for an early selection for Valentines Day or any other special occasion.

Better late than never.

Dohner-Turner

NEW BUFFALO — Miss Marty Turner and Oliver Dohner exchanged wedding vows Dec. 24 at the United Methodist church, New Buffalo. The Rev. Robert Pumfrey performed the ceremony. Parents of the bride are Mrs. Betty Turner, 25 South Townsend street, New Buffalo, and Robert Turner of Three Oaks. The groom is the son of Mrs.

Charlotte Denton of New Buffalo. The bride wore an ivory knit gown with forest green velvet hooded bolero jacket trimmed with ivory maribou fur. She carried red sweetheart roses, baby's breath and holly.

Mrs. Steven Thate, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Gary Greer served as best man.

The couple is residing in New Buffalo.

The bride is a graduate of New Buffalo high school and Central Michigan university and is employed as librarian at New Buffalo elementary school. Her husband, a graduate of New Buffalo high school, is employed by Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, New Buffalo.

"Show and Tell" will be the theme for the program at the Friday, Jan. 14 meeting of Genealogical Association of Southwestern Michigan, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph.

The public is invited to the meeting.

Tables will be provided for displaying of materials and participants may present information concerning the articles during the program.

"Show and Tell" items may include photo albums, family Bibles, old articles of apparel, old pictures of people or locations, old newspaper clippings, old tax records, scrapbooks, Bicentennial township publications, list of school names or pictures, postcard pictures of places and people, old letters, old tools and old novelties created by family members.

All area children three through five are invited.

Area youngsters are invited to view three films Friday, Jan. 14, at 4 p.m. at the library.

These will include "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," based on the story by Washington Irving about the headless rider; "Forgotten West," which takes the viewer back in time to the days of cattle drives and frontier towns, and "Come See the Dolphins," an aquatic show by dolphins.

Children are invited to visit the library after school to view some of the new filmstrips added to the junior department.

These include "The Wizard of Oz" and "Dr. Doolittle" by Films, Inc.; "Bill's Balloon Ride," Reiner Zimnik, and "Whistle for Willy," Ezra Jack Keats.

The area along the backbone is where the muscles have received the least amount of use. This includes the rib and loin sections.

Other civic activities included service on the Niles Library board, the YMCA board of directors and the Berrien County Youth Fair board entertainment committee.

In 1967, she was named the

Regaining Popularity

MAKING COMEBACK: Public demand for lace curtains began dwindling 30 years ago but the curtains are now making a comeback. Curtains were popular before the vogue of venetian blinds and draw draperies swept the country. Many of today's curtains are wrinkle-resistant and free-hanging. They are treated for soil-release and are machine washable, drip-dry and permanent press to maintain maximum beauty with minimum care. Two popular patterns today are Garden Flowers and Floreal.

Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Help For 'Black Thumb'

Dear Ann Landers: It seems everybody takes their problems to you sooner or later as I've decided to join The Club. I realize gardening isn't your field but you seem to know experts all over and hopefully you can help me.

You've heard of a green thumb? Well, I have a black thumb. Every flower, plant, shrub or growing vegetable I touch seems to die. My neighbors on both sides have wonderful luck with their sunflowers, roses, roses, peacock and daffodils. Their indoor plants thrive. Their lawns are like velvet. My flowers never make it. My plants are pathetic and my lawn is a disgrace. Even my trees get odd diseases.

I've had two florists come look at my "problems." They just shook their heads and said, "You ought to try another hobby." I love growing things and am not going to give up easily. Please suggest something. — Typhoid Mary.

Dear Mary: Don't despair. Help is on the way. A charming and informative book, "First Garden" by C. Z. Guest, will tell you exactly what you need to know. The publisher is Pet-nam and the price is $9.95. The book is so beautifully illustrated by Cecil Beaton that people with green thumbs will love it!

Sick Dolls

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago you described as "revolting" a doll which, when its arm is twisted, swells up in certain places and produces a pair of breasts. Will you please comment on another one of the year's most preposterous "toys"?

The ad for this horror says, "Uncle Sherman has something to show you." It is billed as "The Original Flasher Doll" and sells for — would you believe — $29?

Uncle Sherman isn't much to look at but a quick lift of his beige trench coat is sure to startle the most sophisticated of viewers. At least 50,000 of the disgusting things have been sold to date and the company can't keep up with the orders. The retailers say the doll is definitely not for children. The biggest customers are women between 30 and 40 — "the sophisticated segment" of

Figure's Gone

Dear Ann: Usually parents write and ask what to do with their teenagers. Well, here's a switch. I'm a teenage girl who wants to know what to do about my father.

In his younger days, Dad had a great physique. He was the type who had snapshots of himself taken at the beach with a girl on each shoulder and two at feet.

I'm afraid Dad doesn't realize how much beer has gone down the hatch since he posed at Santa Monica. When he sits around the house in his swimming trunks and my girl friends come over I get very embarrassed. Mom doesn't like it either. Sometimes she says, "Frank, go put your robe on." He pays no attention.

ANN LANDERS

Dad is a great guy but this one thing bothers me a lot. What can I do about it? — It's The Pits.

Dear Pits: You can tell your dad (in a sweet way, of course) that you wouldn't sit in the living room in your bikini when HE has guests and you'd appreciate the same consideration. Then ask your mom to buy him a sharp-looking terrycloth robe. And hope for the best.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 20 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

IRANIAN WOMEN GAIN RIGHTS

From The Veil To Blue Jeans

Women's freedoms may be advancing faster in Iran than in any country in the world.

A generation ago, women were not even counted in the nation's census. Asked how many children he had, a man with two sons and two daughters would answer, "Two."

For centuries, Persian women wore the chador, a "veil" cloaking the entire body and head, with one hand draping the cloth over all but one eye so they were protected from the view of all men but their husbands and fathers.

In view of that background, the gains made by Iranian women have been remarkable. Nearly 1,300,000 now are in the work force, more than 200,000 of them white-collar employees. About half are in teaching, including 2,100 university professors and assistant professors. One out of every 10 Iranian doctors is a woman, and there are many paramedics. There are 340 women among Iran's 12,000 engineers; 316 among 10,000 jurists and lawyers.

Within the government there are several women ministers, and 18 of the 447 directors general are women. Last year, 16,963 women graduated from domestic universities and 364 from foreign universities, most of them in the United States.

Women in Iran have advanced swifly. As long ago as 1936,

Reza Shah the Great, who founded the Pahlavi dynasty, outlawed the chador. But age-old customs are difficult to break, and it was not until the "White Revolution," launched in 1963 by his son,

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, that the women's rights movement gained speed.

Through the "White Revolution," called that because great reforms were accomplished without bloodshed, many advances for women were initiated.

At one stroke, women were granted the right to vote and to run for political office and the right to seek gainful employment. The Family Protection Law passed in 1967 granted women equal rights in divorce cases. In 1975 abortion was made legal for this Muslim nation "provided the doctor takes the responsibility for the health of the woman."

Empress Farah Diba is a Council, not as a royal courtesy, but because of her training in architecture. She participates in overseeing education and health care development. And she has been granted the right to vote in the election of the

Some time ago, a group of doctors in Denmark tried high doses of vitamin D to control these attacks. Their preliminary reports have never been substantiated to the point that they replaced the effective drugs in use today.

Dear Mrs. V.S., III:

I certainly would not for a moment depart from the drugs, dilantin and phenobarbital, which she undoubtedly is now taking. This combination has been remarkably effective in reducing the frequency and severity of epileptic seizures.

A hernia in the groin is an enlarged opening, or defect, in the protective wall that normally keeps the intestine in its proper position.

The stress of lifting, or an injury, may enlarge the opening and permit a small piece of intestine to be pushed through that opening.

State House Leaders Say It's Time To Clean Up Act

By DONALD WOUTAT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The critics say the place has no class and that discussions taking place there often are irrational.

The critics are referring to the Michigan House of Representatives and Democratic and Republican leaders say it's time for reform.

Pledges to straighten out the often-chaotic, 110-member House have been made before. Top lawmakers from both sides of the aisle will outline reform proposals again Wednesday.

The gripes range from pandemonium on the House floor to a bureaucratic structure that tends to thwart common sense.

"There are too many introductions of visiting firemen in the gallery," says Dennis Cawthorne, House minority leader, citing a pet peeve. "It tends to delay the legislative process."

Cawthorne and House Speaker Bobby Crim declined to say specifically what they will propose. But many lawmakers, including a special Republican task force, have made reform suggestions that are both minor and sweeping.

Democratic floor leader Joseph Forbes, D-Oak Park, who likes to tell jokes to the press corps during House sessions, wants to see more formality and dignity befitting the democratic process.

"It would kill me, but I'd do it in the interests of decorum," Forbes said.

He also wishes legislators would quit putting their feet on their desks, although "I don't know how we'd enforce that."

Forbes also suggests a ban on visitors on the House floor and requiring identification for anyone to get into the chambers. It would all make for a better image to confused visitors in the gallery, he says.

For instance, they suggest a cutback in the number of committees — currently 33 — and some limits on how long bills can remain alive.

A reduction in committees is a long-range project because of the "practical political problems," Crim said. It would mean taking prestigious jobs away from some lawmakers.

Mother Accused In 'Demon' Death

By PETER MATTIAKE
Associated Press Writer

MT. HOLLY, N.J. (AP) — Crying "Hallelujah" and appealing for God's help, Inez Council was arraigned in the death of her 21-year-old daughter, who authorities say was smothered by a turpentine-soaked cloth prescribed by a "root doctor" to rid her of demons.

After saying she understood the manslaughter charge against her, Mrs. Council, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was taken to jail Monday. Asst. Burlington County Prosecutor Thomas McCormick said he would ask for $25,000 bail and psychiatric treatment for her after she arranged for an attorney.

At one point in the short proceeding, Mrs. Council appeared to be falling over. As she was led out of the courtroom clutching a formal copy of the charges, she said, "This paper needs to be changed. It is wrong."

Authorities gave the following account of her daughter's death:

Catherine Council, a student from Brooklyn who had a history of seizures and has spent time in a psychiatric ward, died Sunday night as she, her mother and three companions drove back on the New Jersey turnpike from a visit to a Monks Corner, S.C., faith healer.

Miss Council apparently had a seizure during the trip and tried to jump out of the car. Her hands and feet were bound to prevent her from kicking the driver and a scarf soaked in turpentine and ammonia was placed over her face to prevent her from spitting.

The driver stopped at a turnpike service center to ask for medical help and the young woman was taken to a hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Police said the cloth had been prescribed by the root doctor as a cure, along with a brown medicine. They also said he had told Miss Council's mother to shield her from the moon, because it could harm her in some way.

"They said she was possessed by demons and this treatment was supposed to keep away the demons," Detective Gene Morse said.

The three others in the car were released on bail as material witnesses. They are: Thomas Williams, 63; his daughter, Joyce Brown, 30, and Tressy Curry, 24, all of Brooklyn.

In New York, Inez Council's mother, Daisy Curry, said her daughter "wouldn't do anything like this."

AMPUTATION BARRED: Otis Simmons sits in Roosevelt hospital bed in New York Monday as he awaited decision from State Supreme Court on whether he has right to deny surgery to amputate his gangrenous feet. Judge Hilda Schwarz of State Supreme Court ruled Monday that Simmons need not have his gangrenous feet amputated against his will because he understands the risks of his refusal. Simmons said he'd rather die with his legs on than having them amputated. Raised area to right in photo is hospital "tent" over his legs. (AP Wirephoto)

Court Tackling Obscenity Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Obscenity, long a thorny issue for the Supreme Court, will confront the justices again later this year when they hear arguments challenging the validity of an obscenity law in Illinois.

The court agreed Monday to decide whether the Illinois law is overbroad and vague in defining what is obscene.

Beyond the individual case is a greater challenge, however. The defendant questions a landmark ruling by the court in 1973 which the court's majority then hoped would solve the obscenity dilemma for good.

"We contend that the definition of obscenity will never be able to be given in a way to end the vagueness of the current law," said J. Steven Beckett, the attorney who will argue against the Illinois law.

"We contend that the definition will always be there, in and out of Illinois," he said after learning of the court's decision to grant review.

Beckett represents Wesley Ward, convicted in 1972 of selling two obscene publications at his Peoria store.

The U.S. Supreme Court, in its 1973 ruling, held by a 5-4 split that obscene material is not protected by First Amendment rights of free press. The majority decision written by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger laid down three tests for courts to follow in deciding what is obscene:

—Would "average persons, applying contemporary community standards," find the work, taken as a whole, appealing to prurient interests — shameful or morbid interests in nudity, sex, or excretions.

—Does the work "lack serious, literary, artistic, political or scientific value."

—Does the work depict or describe, in a patently offensive way, sexual conduct "specifically" defined by the applicable state law.

Whatever the court decides about the Illinois law, the appeal may move the justices to expand on or make more specific the three-part test devised in 1973. Only time will tell if the final disposition of Ward's case provides any more of a definitive answer.

In other matters Monday, the court:

—Refused to review a judge's order that put racially torn South Boston High School into temporary receivership after conventional enforcement of deregulation decrees had failed. The Boston School Committee, the elected body that runs the city's public schools system, had challenged the receivership.

—Agreed to decide whether an Ohio law allowing officials to loan educational equipment to parochial schools and provide off-campus services for parochial students violates constitutional standards requiring separation of church and government.

—Agreed to decide whether private employers have to give credit in their pension plans to the time employees were off the job because of military duty.

—Agreed to hear arguments from E.C. Chappelle Jr., of Baton Rouge, La., who claims a state law requiring citizens to own property in order to serve on an appointed airport commission denies him equal protection of the law.

—Agreed in a Hazelwood, Mo., school case to decide whether it is illegal for non-federal government agencies to discriminate in hiring and other job practices on the basis of race or sex even if the discrimination was not intentional.

—Set aside two lower court decisions which had ruled as illegal the exclusion of pregnancy benefits from private and public health insurance and disability programs.

The justices sent both cases back to the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for consideration.

—Refused to review a judge's order that put racially torn South Boston High School into temporary receivership after conventional enforcement of

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Clinging to opposite ends of a wrecked oil tanker, buffeted by 35-foot waves and 70-mile-an-hour winds, John Gilmete and Harry Selleck thought they were about to die.

Gilmete prayed; Selleck said to himself, "Goodbye, Harry." Both survived.

They were among the six American crewmen rescued by Coast Guard cutters and helicopters Monday after an empty American oil tanker broke in half during a winter storm off Cape Ann near the old fishing port of Gloucester.

A seventh crewman, Joao DaRosa, 41, of Pawtucket, R.I., was missing and presumed drowned after he leaped in desperation for a rescue basket lowered by a helicopter, but missed and fell into the water.

The 43-year-old, 281-foot Chester A. Poling was cut in half by the storm, and the halves sank rapidly. Gilmete, 47, of Jersey City, N.J., thought none of the crewmen would live, although a distress signal had been sent.

"The way the sea was I didn't think we'd survive until the Coast Guard got there," said Gilmete, 47, of Jersey City, N.J. "I was thinking of my family, my children. I was thinking I wouldn't see my son grow up."

He and four other men were on the stern as it went down.

The Poling, based in New York, was headed from Boston to Newington, N.H., when the storm struck.

It was the 12th oil carrier involved in an accident in or near U.S. waters in the past month. Only one of the others was an American ship.

Meanwhile, in Wash-waters, harbors and inland waterways, which are already congested and crowded.

"Those of us who have studied this area feel the worst is yet to come," said the Democrat from Washington state.

"This country has just witnessed the worst rash of tanker accidents ever, and on top of that, last year was the worst in history for tanker losses," said Magnuson in a statement prepared for the opening of hearings today aimed at making oil tankers safer.

Fifteen tankers were lost last year. Since Dec. 15 when the Argo Merchant hit a shoal off Nantucket, nine oil carriers have either run aground, sank, or were lost at sea.

Claudine Breaks Down At Trial

By BILL PARDUE
Associated Press Writer

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Weeping with her head in her hands as prosecutors breezed into their case against her, Claudine Longet heard herself described as a confused, "ringy" woman, driven to talk about her lover's death almost from the instant she shot him.

"She repeated, 'I shot him. I didn't mean to. It was an accident,'" said former sheriff's deputy George Ackerman as testimony got under way in this Rocky Mountain ski village Monday. "She was talking to herself. She was upset."

Prosecutors said they hoped to close their case against the ex-showgirl and former wife of singer Andy Williams with a handful of witnesses today after calling 11 persons to the stand Monday.

In his opening statement, Deputy Dist. Atty. Ashley Anderson said Miss Longet "raised the gun, pointed it at (professional skier Vladimir) Spider Sabich, jokingly said 'bang-bang,' at which point Spider Sabich fell to the floor, dying."

As she heard details of Sabich's death, Miss Longet, 33, broke down twice. Once, she buried her face in her hands and cried several minutes before becoming composed again.

The first day's only surprise was provided by the security chief for the exclusive subdivision where Miss Longet lived for two years with Sabich, a 31-year-old professional skier.

Roy Griffith said that as he arrived at Sabich's $250,000 mountaintop home, he was warned by a Pitkin County sheriff's officer about Miss Longet: "Now watch it, this gal is ringy today."

Neither the defense nor the prosecution asked Griffith to define "ringy." Anderson told reporters, "Let the jurors decide."

Griffith described his entry into the home. "All at once, Miss Longet appeared in the hallway," he said. "She was holding her hand to her chest, and for an instant, I thought she had been shot ... I said, 'Claudine, who shot who?' and she said, 'I shot Spider.'"

If convicted of the reckless manslaughter charge, Miss Longet could receive a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. She contends Sabich was teaching her to use the pistol before going out of town when the gun fired accidentally.

The prosecution case appears trimmed without the use of a diary Miss Longet kept or medical tests given her the night of the shooting.

Lt. Robert Nicoletti, a ballistics expert for the Denver police, underwent the longest cross-examination, especially on his estimate that Miss Longet was "between four and six feet" from Sabich when he was shot.

Nicoletti also said Sabich was wearing a short and long set of underwear when he died, and both undershirts had gunpowder on them.

He repeated testimony given at a preliminary hearing that the safety on the .22-caliber pistol that killed Sabich didn't work.

Car Finance 'Kickbacks' Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you bought a car from a dealer who arranged the financing, you may have spent several hundred dollars more in finance charges than you had to. The extra money went as a payment from the lending institution to the dealer in return for steering the business its way. Chairman Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., of the House consumer affairs subcommittee, said Monday in an interview that such payments "were under-the-table kickbacks" that "have cost consumers millions in the past few years."

Board Fires Striking Workers

HOLTON, Mich. (AP) — Striking school workers were fired Monday after defying an order to return to work.

The school board in this Muskegon County district scheduled a meeting Monday night to begin replacing the approximately 40 bus drivers, cooks, custodians and secretaries fired.

The board sent each striker written notice last week warning that anyone failing to return to work Monday would be fired.

Despite the warning, the workers picketed district schools Monday. The firings followed. The dispute over bus maintenance and secretarial workloads began last Tuesday.

Schools were closed three days after the strike began last week after attendance dropped to less than 40 per cent of the district's 1,118 pupils.

Classes resumed Monday, although school officials said just 44 per cent of the pupils were on hand. Those going to school did without bus rides and hot lunches because of the strike. Nearly 85 per cent of Holton's pupils normally ride buses to school.

Superintendent Mickey Noble said the district intends to hold class despite the firings.

The workers belong to Local 586, Service Employees International Union. Noble contended the union never authorized a strike.

'Instant Bingo' Launched

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tickets go on sale today for the Michigan Lottery's newest instant game, "Instant Bingo." The game is expected to last eight to 10 weeks.

Players can win instant prizes ranging from a free ticket to $10,000, and can qualify for a special $1 million drawing.

Sales end today for another game, the special $1 "Winter Wonderland." Lottery officials called it highly successful, with ticket sales averaging more than $1 million a week.

The final winning numbers will be announced on the lottery's weekly television show Thursday night.

The 7:30 p.m. telecast also will feature two lottery clubs and four individuals vying against defending "super player" Irene Conley, 54, of Saginaw, for a $100,000 prize.

Mrs. Conley, personnel manager for a discount store and mother of five, has already won $300,000 in "Michigan."

This week's challengers, guaranteed to win at least $5,000, are: Cynthia Davis, 16, a clerk from Dearborn; Fifteen Lottery Club of Kalamazoo, employees of the Brown Co.; Raymond Kohler, 54, of Cedar, superintendent of Glen Lake Community Schools; Julian Koch, 51, of Rochester, a businesswoman; Douglas MacLean, 37, of Rochester, an auto industry executive; State Street Players Lottery Club, 23 employees at Potawatonia Middle School.

MUNISING, Mich. (AP) — An Upper Peninsula judge has blocked a special winter deer hunt scheduled to begin this weekend in Alger County's Beaver Basin.

Alger County Circuit Court Judge Chair Hoech ruled Monday the special hunting season could cause impairment or destruction of a natural resource. He issued an injunction blocking the hunt for at least a year.

The judge said he acted under the state's 1970 Environmental Protection Act.

The state Department of Natural Resources contend a special deer hunt was necessary to kill at least 300 deer in the area because the herd faced mass starvation. The DNR had scheduled the hunt to start Sunday, Jan. 10 and run through March 1.

A DNR spokesman said the department may appeal Judge Hoech's decision. But the first week of the hunt is off regardless of whether an appeal is made, the spokesman said.

More than 1,000 hunters had applied for licenses for the special hunt, which consists of several three-day

Hoech issued the injunction after Alger County Prosecutor William Werner told the court he received "an anonymous gift" of $27,000 to pay for a feeding program.

The Alger County Sportsmen's Club offered last week to provide $25,000 for the winter feeding program. Officials said the club mortgaged its clubhouse and 38 acres of property surrounding it to come up with the necessary money.

County residents and some sportsmen protested the winter hunting as unsportsmanlike and challenged the department's prediction that the herd faced starvation. Alger County commissioners sought the injunction after offering to have a biologist study the herd in depth.

The sportsmen's club has hired Lake Superior State College professor Ray Riley to study how the deer survive this winter and to determine exactly how many deer are in the area. Alger County residents have challenged the DNR's deer count as too high.

County officials said if that study shows the department's assessment is valid, they may agree to a special hunt next year.

DNR officials argued that a feeding program, which lasted more than two decades, had allowed the herd to increase beyond what natural forage in the basin can support. The feeding program was dropped when the federal government acquired the basin as part of the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

Board Fires Striking Workers

HOLTON, Mich. (AP) — Striking school workers were fired Monday after defying an order to return to work.

The school board in this Muskegon County district scheduled a meeting Monday night to begin replacing the approximately 40 bus drivers, cooks, custodians and secretaries it fired.

The board sent each striker written notice last week warning that anyone failing to return to work Monday would be fired.

Despite the warning, the workers picketed district schools Monday. The firings followed. The dispute over bus maintenance and secretarial workloads began last Tuesday. Schools were closed three days after the strike began last week after attendance dropped to less than 40 per cent of the district's 1,119 pupils.

Classes resumed Monday, although school officials said just 44 per cent of the pupils were on hand. Those going to school did without bus rides and hot lunches because of the strike. Nearly 85 per cent of Holton's pupils normally ride buses to school.

Superintendent Mickey Noble said the district intends to hold class despite the firings.

The workers belong to Local 586, Service Employees International Union. Noble contended the union never authorized a strike.

'Instant Bingo' Launched

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tickets go on sale today for the Michigan Lottery's newest instant game, "Instant Bingo." The game is expected to last eight to 10 weeks.

Players can win instant prizes ranging from free ticket to $10,000, and can qualify for a special $1 million drawing.

Sales end today for another game, the special $1 "Winter Wonderland." Lottery officials called it highly successful, with ticket sales averaging more than $1 million a week.

The final winning numbers will be announced on the lottery's weekly television show Thursday night.

The 7:30 p.m. telecast also will feature two lottery clubs and four individuals vying against defending "super player" Irene Conley, 56, of Southgate, for a $100,000 prize.

Mrs. Conley, personnel manager for a discount store and mother of five, has already won $207,000 in the "Michiganame."

This week's challengers, guaranteed to win at least $5,000, are: Cynthia Davis, 18, a clerk from Dearborn; Fifteen Lottery Club of Kalamazoo, employees of the Brown Co.; Raymond Kahler, 54, of Cedar, superintendent of Glen Lake Community Schools; Julian Koch, 53, of Rochester, a businessman; Douglas MacLean, 37, of Rochester, an auto industry employee; State Street Players Lottery Club, 23 employees at Petoskey Middle School.

MUNISING, Mich. (AP) — An Upper Peninsula judge has blocked a special winter deer hunt scheduled to begin this weekend in Alger County's Beaver Basin.

Alger County Circuit Court Judge Clair Hoehn ruled Monday the special hunting season could cause impairment or destruction of a natural resource. He issued an injunction blocking the hunt for at least a year.

The judge said he acted under the state's 1970 Environmental Protection Act.

The state Department of Natural Resources contend that a special deer hunt was necessary to kill at least 300 deer in the area because the herd faced mass starvation. The DNR had scheduled the hunt to start Sunday, Jan. 16 and run through March 1.

A DNR spokesman said the department may appeal Judge Hoehn's decision. But the first week of the hunt is off regardless of whether an appeal is made, the spokesman said.

More than 1,000 hunters had applied for licenses for the special hunt, which consists of several three-day sessions.

Hoehn issued the injunction after Alger County Prosecutor William Werner told the court he received "an anonymous gift" of $27,000 to pay for a feeding program.

The Alger County Sportsmen's Club offered last week to provide $25,000 for the winter feeding program. Officials said the club mortgaged its clubhouse and 38 acres of property surrounding it to come up with the necessary money.

County residents and some sportsmen protested the winter hunting as unsportsmanlike and challenged the department's prediction that the herd faced starvation. Alger County commissioners sought the injunction after offering to have a biologist study the herd in depth.

The sportsmen's club has hired Lake Superior State College professor Ray Riley to study how the deer survive this winter and to determine exactly how many deer are in the area. Alger County residents have challenged the DNR's deer count as too high.

County officials said if that study shows the department's assessment is valid, they may agree to a special hunt next year.

DNR officials argued that a feeding program, which lasted more than two decades, had allowed the herd to increase beyond what natural forage in the basin can support. The feeding program was dropped when the federal government acquired the basin as part of the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

Use This Method To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . grow more hair.

Have you faced the fact that you have a hair loss problem?

Hair loss occurs so gradually that men and women often ignore it. Until it's too late. Even though you see yourself in a mirror every day, many of you won't admit to abnormal hair fall.

If you think, honestly, that you might be in this category, look at a picture taken a year ago — three years ago. Notice a difference? If so, now's the time to stop your hair loss. You could be going bald.

If it appears that you are bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss?

Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

If you have thinning hair, the Loesch treatment may be the answer for you.

If you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days — at their risk — if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially by mail.

If it doesn't have to happen.

Often hair fall is NOT normal.

Now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that not only stops hair loss, but actually grows hair!

And you don't even have to take their word for it. You can try their treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally they wouldn't offer this opportunity unless it worked. But it's impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss?

No Gas Shortage Expected In State

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Michigan Public Service Commission says the state is not expected to be faced with a natural gas shortage this winter as severe natural gas curtailments strike six states in America's midsection and one on the eastern seaboard.

The Federal Energy Administration officials are reworking their charts and tables to account for the midwestern shortage.

The commission said Monday the state's gas companies have given assurances that — barring unforeseen developments — they will be able to continue serving their customers.

Federal action diverting some of Michigan's gas could cause problems, however, industry observers say.

Problems have been averted partly because Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has sold emergency gas to three of the state's small gas companies.

The three companies are Michigan Gas Utilities of Monroe, Southeastern Michigan Gas of Port Huron and Peninsular Gas of Calumet.

Michigan Consolidated's sister company, the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co., has the best gas supply of any interstate pipeline company.

In addition, Michigan Consolidated and Consumers Power Co. have large gas storage fields.

None of the six midwestern states was on the list the FEA published in November of states which would suffer most in the event that unusually low temperatures caused heavy demand on natural gas supplies.

Nonetheless, businesses and schools in parts of Ohio, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska are faced with shutdowns. Gas suppliers in North Carolina are taking emergency measures to supply their high priority customers. North Carolina has had gas supply problems for several years, and its current shortage was not unanticipated.

Except in one small Missouri town, gas supplies appeared adequate to heat residential buildings, which have the highest priority when gas supplies are limited.

Polo, Mo. population 438, virtually ran out of gas Monday. Residents were asked to go to a nearby school which is heated with propane. Its supply depended on nearby wells, which gave out when demand peaked during a weekend of sub-zero temperatures.

The Gas Service Co., serving parts of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, asked customers to lower their thermostats "as low as they can stand it." Schools in metropolitan Kansas City were closed. In Wichita, pupils bundled up as classroom temperatures dropped to the 50s.

In Kansas City, a couple died from a fire that apparently started in a electric heater they had on to supplement their gas heat.

Schools in many North Texas communities were closed, and Wichita Falls was suffering a 100 per cent curtailment to schools and businesses, apparently because it is on an interstate pipeline, rather than an intrastate pipeline.

ECONOMIC STIMULUS 'TOO SMALL'

Union Leaders Rap Carter Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the AFL-CIO, who supported President-elect Carter's election bid, charge he has retreated from his campaign promises to reduce unemployment.

They said his two-year plan for a $2 billion to $3 billion economic program of economic stimulus "is too small, takes too long and is too ill-advised to give the economy the stimulus it needs."

The labor federation, in a statement Monday, said it would push instead for a $30 billion plan emphasizing direct job creation rather than tax cuts.

The policy dispute is the second time since Carter won the November election that labor leaders have expressed disappointment with him. The other grumbling came when Carter rejected their urging to name John T. Dunlop as labor secretary. Carter chose F. Ray Marshall for the post.

The AFL-CIO criticism of Carter's economic program was directed at his announcement last week, with the support of the Democratic leadership of Congress, of a $23 billion to $30 billion, two-year program that would include up to $11 billion in tax rebates on 1976 federal income taxes for individuals.

The package would also involve $7 billion to $10 billion in new government spending for job and public works programs over the 1977 and 1978 fiscal years, permanent tax cuts for low-and middle-income taxpayers and a small but permanent cut in business taxes.

The AFL-CIO leaders called it a "retreat from the goals we understand" President-elect Carter to have set during last year's campaign.

Meanwhile, the Congressional Budget Office today said an economic package roughly comparable to Carter's could generate $10,000 jobs this year and $65,000 new jobs by the end of 1978.

The report by the nonpartisan office had been prepared before Carter disclosed his proposals last week.

It concluded that without government intervention, the economy will continue to grow slowly — 2.5 per cent to 5 per cent — and there will still be up to 7.5 million persons unemployed by the end of this year.

The AFL-CIO said the key to the nation's economic problem is unemployment and the solution is jobs, adding that reliance on tax cuts and rebates instead of job-creating legislation was the least effective method of solving the problem.

The labor leaders said they were "especially disturbed" by the new administration's proposal to reduce corporate taxes. "Corporations need customers, not tax gifts," they said.

The AFL-CIO said the stimulus from these tax cuts and rebates "is far more costly and moves at a much slower pace than the program we recommended and which we intend to push in the Congress."

The statement was issued by the legislative subcommittee of the AFL-CIO's executive council.

It urged an expansion of public works projects by at least $10 billion to provide 600,000 new jobs; expansion of current public service jobs programs by $6 billion to provide an additional 600,000 jobs.

The labor federation also urged expanding housing programs by $8 billion with emphasis on housing for the elderly, home ownership assistance programs and rehabilitation of low-income rental housing projects, providing another 325,000 jobs.

The AFL-CIO also wants another $3 billion spent for youth employment and training programs and $2 billion in aid to state and local governments to ease their financial problems.

Criticism of Carter's economic proposals also came Monday from two congressional buckets of sweeping job legislation.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., and Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., said Carter's plan "falls far short of what we feel is needed at this time and also has a misdirected emphasis in favor of tax relief and at the expense of direct job creation."

However, they said they will support the Carter package "while at the same time urging that it be expanded to adequate size and directed properly."

A government report said Monday that a surge in auto-buying helped make December the best in about four and half years for retailers. The Commerce Department said retail sales gained 3.1 per cent last month, compared to November. The measure was adjusted for seasonal and trading day differences.

Department store sales, a mainstay of the Christmas selling season, were up 2.6 per cent in December. A year earlier, December sales had risen 1.4 per cent over the previous month.

No Settlement In Sight

CORUNNA, Mich. (AP) — Bargainers for the Shiawassee County Road Commission and striking truck drivers met with state mediators for nearly 10 hours Monday, but no settlement is in sight. The walkout has kept county snow removal equipment idle for more than a week. State crews have plowed most of the county's truck lines into passable condition, but side roads are drifting shut.

The AFL-CIO leaders called it a "retreat from the goals we understood" President-elect Carter to set during last year's campaign."

Meanwhile, the Congressional Budget Office today said an economic package roughly comparable to Carter's could generate 610,000 jobs this year and 905,000 new jobs by the end of 1978.

The report by the nonpartisan budget office had been prepared before Carter disclosed his proposals last week.

It concluded that without government intervention, the economy will continue to grow slowly — 3.5 per cent to 5 per cent — and there will still be up to 7.5 million persons unemployed by the end of this year.

The AFL-CIO said the key to the nation's economic problem is unemployment and the solution is jobs, adding that reliance on tax cuts and rebates instead of job-creating legislation was the least effective method of solving the problem.

The labor leaders said they were "especially disturbed" by the new administration's proposal to reduce corporate taxes. "Corporations need customers, not tax gifts," they said.

The AFL-CIO said the stimulus from these tax cuts and rebates "is far more costly and moves at a much slower pace than the program we recommended and which we intend to push in Congress."

The statement was issued by the legislative subcommittee of the AFL-CIO's executive council.

It urged an expansion of public works projects by at least $10 billion to provide 600,000 new jobs; expansion of current public service jobs programs by $8 billion to provide an additional 800,000 jobs.

The labor federation also urged expanding housing programs by $8 billion with emphasis on housing for the elderly, home ownership assistance programs and rehabilitation of low-income rental housing projects, providing another 325,000 jobs.

The AFL-CIO also wants another $2 billion spent for youth employment and training programs and $2 billion in aid to state and local governments to ease their financial problems.

Criticism of Carter's economic proposals also came Monday from two congressional backers of sweeping job legislation.

Reps. John Conyers, D-Mich. and Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., said Carter's plan "fall far short of what we feel is needed at this time and also has a misdirected emphasis in favor of tax relief and at the expense of direct job creation."

However, they said they will support the Carter package "while at the same time urging that it be expanded to adequately size and directed properly."

A government report said Monday that a surge in auto buying helped make December the best in about four and half years for retailers. The Commerce Department said retail sales gained 3.1 per cent last month, compared to November. The measure was adjusted for seasonal and trading day differences.

Department store sales, a mainstay of the Christmas selling season, were up 2.6 per cent in December. A year earlier, December sales had risen 1.4 per cent over the previous month.

No Settlement In Sight

CORUNNA, Mich. (AP) — Bargainers for the Shiawassee County Road Commission and striking truck drivers met with state mediators for nearly 10 hours Monday, but no settlement is in sight. The walkout has kept county snow removal equipment idle for more than a week. State crews have plowed most of the county's trunk lines into passable condition, but side roads are drifted shut.

Bell, Brown Likely To Face Tough Senate Grilling

By DAVE RILEY

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — There may be a few tough questions waiting for some of President-elect Carter's Cabinet nominees, but all are expected to win Senate confirmation.

Senate committees scheduled hearings today on four of Carter's nominees to Cabinet posts and on Charles L. Schultze, tapped for the Cabinet-level job of heading the Council of Economic Advisers.

Scheduled for hearings today were Griffin B. Bell, nominated for attorney general; Harold Brown, nominated for defense secretary; Cyrus R. Vance, nominated for secretary of state, and Bob Bergland, nominated for secretary of agriculture.

Of the four Cabinet nominees, Bell and Brown were the two most likely to face tough questions.

Bell, an Atlanta lawyer, is a one-time federal judge, long-time Carter friend and so far the most controversial of Carter's nominees.

The Senate Judiciary Committee scheduled hearings on Bell that could last several days. And while a number of black leaders and civil rights and liberal groups have requested time to speak out against Bell, there appeared to be little opposition to him from committee members.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., one of the committee's liberals, predicted on Monday that the panel will approve Bell "unless there is something we don't know now" that is revealed during the hearings.

But opponents such as the Congressional Black Caucus and the NAACP have vowed to fight Bell's confirmation.

Bell served 15 years on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and Carter views his nominee's civil rights record as "superb."

But Bell's opponents have criticized his judicial opinions in school desegregation cases, his membership in racially exclusive private clubs and his support of Richard Nixon's nomination of G. Harrold Carswell for the Supreme Court.

Brown was scheduled to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee where some Senate hawks reportedly intended to ask pointed questions about his views on nuclear arms limitation.

Vance met privately for two hours with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Monday before giving his public testimony today.

There was no apparent opposition to Vance in the committee or in the full Senate and his confirmation as secretary of state seems assured.

Bergland, a member of the House of Representatives from Minnesota, was expected to get a friendly reception from the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The Senate Commerce Committee had no hostile questions for Juanita M. Kreps, nominated by Carter to be secretary of commerce.

Mrs. Kreps told the panel she would support measures to discourage American firms from participating in the Arab boycott of Israel.

Carter's nominee for secretary of housing and urban development, Patricia Roberts Harris, had a sharp exchange with the chairman of the Senate Banking Committee during her confirmation hearing Monday.

Mrs. Harris, the only black Cabinet nominee, angrily defended her sensitivity to the problems of blacks and poor people after Sen. William Proxmire suggested the job needed someone "sympathetic to the problems of the poor."

Proxmire later predicted she would be approved by the Senate.

Pet Dog Saves Four From Fire

DETROIT (AP) — A dog named Corky is credited with saving the lives of a 6-year-old crippled boy and three other people by awakening them just before their wood-frame house went up in flames.

No one was injured, but the house on Detroit's east side was a complete loss after the fire Sunday, officials said.

"As broke as I am, I wouldn't take a million dollars for this dog," said Corky's owner, Patricia Drummond.

Officials said Corky, a 6-year-old mixed-breed Collie, saved the lives of Mrs. Drummond; Delores Gray, 41; and Mrs. Gray's two sons, James, 19, and Mario, 6.

Mario, born with club feet and a defective heart, is crippled. The boy was pulled out of bed and carried to safety by his mother, officials said.

Mrs. Gray receives welfare payments to help support her children, officials said. She said the contents of her home — including Mario's leg braces — were completely destroyed by the fire.

"I've got virtually nothing," said Mrs. Gray. The family sought shelter in a relative's home.

Mrs. Gray said the family was awakened early Sunday by Corky's persistent barking and scratching at bedroom doors.

She said she got out of bed and was nearly blinded by thick smoke.

"I ran into Mario's room, grabbed him in my arms and ran out to the front porch. Then I realized he didn't have clothes on. I ran back in and got two blankets, but that's all," Mrs. Gray said.

Mrs. Drummond, who babysits for Mario, and Mrs. Gray's other son escaped in the meantime.

About 10 seconds after the group got out, "The whole house just went 'ploom,'" and was engulfed in flames, Mrs. Drummond said.

Detroit fire officials blamed the blaze on faulty wiring.

sion snowplow truck had a mechanical failure near the Napier avenue bridge between St. Joseph and Fairplain, causing a traffic tieup for a time this morning on the westbound lanes of Napier avenue.

At South Haven, the city street department ran out of gasoline last night and was forced to tap the city fire department supplies to keep the snowplows moving.

At Ross field, airport officials said they were able to keep the runways open, but that blowing snow cut visibility and made landings difficult. North Central Airlines maintained its schedule of flights in and out of Ross field Monday, but cancelled its 7:45 flight this morning because of anticipated visibility problems.

Herb Teichman, Eau Claire grower-weather observer, reported six inches of new snow Monday and this morning that the accumulation on the ground this morning measured 18 inches. He added that snowfall to date since the beginning of November now stands at 75 inches. Teichman record a low of 1 below zero last night.

At the Sodus Experiment farm, the mercury dropped only to 10 above overnight, and snowfall was reported at four inches. The snow cover on the ground at the Experiment Farm measured 16 inches.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — A four-inch snowfall that hit the city Sunday night proved helpful to police. Investigating a citizen's complaint that a CB radio unit had been stolen from his car, police found a fresh set of tracks in the untouched snow. They followed the tracks to an apartment and on checking it out, spotted a pair of cold, wet shoes near a bed. Looking a little further, they saw a 19-year-old Battle Creek youth hiding there. The CB unit was recovered and the youth was booked on a charge of larceny from an auto.

He Can't Collect

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If you try to rob the bank you work for but get caught, are you still entitled to proceed from the bank's profit-sharing plan? No, the Michigan Court of Appeals said in the case of a one-time Michigan Bank branch manager. Robert G. Erz, a valued employee and one-time manager of the Kelly Road branch of Michigan Bank in Wayne County, had built up some $21,000 in the bank's profit-sharing plan during the 1960s, the court said. All the money was contributed by the bank. On Aug. 13, 1969, Erz walked into the East Eight Mile Road branch with a shotgun and tried to rob it but was subdued and arrested, the court said. He was promptly fired, but later acquitted of criminal charges on grounds of insanity. Erz then tried to get the money he said was due him under the profit-sharing plan. Bank trustees said no, the Wayne County Circuit Court upheld their finding and the appeals court agreed.

The court upheld a clause in the profit-sharing plan that says one cannot collect if he commits a felony against the bank. The court also said the lower-court judge acted properly in finding Erz sane for purposes of the civil case.

They'll Give Thief Talking-To

SEATTLE (AP) — The thief who stole six rare birds valued at more than $6,000 from a local pet store probably has had an earful, the store's manager says. "Somebody that knew birds did this," said Jeannie Dineen. "They selected the most valuable birds in the store." Stolen Saturday were a scarlet macaw valued at $2,000, a cockatoo worth $1,500, a blue crown parrot that sells for $1,000, a Mealy Amazon parrot valued at $500 and a yellow head parrot valued at $300. There were signs the thief had a difficult task: feathers were all over the store. The manager said the birds can also talk, especially the Mealy Amazon, Bernie. "It wouldn't do any good to ask him to be quiet," she said. A number of parrots were left behind, but they weren't talking — at least not about the robbery.

Curtis was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions. Damage to the squad car consisted only of dents, Murphy said.

Murphy was outside the car when it was hit. He reported that he was putting up flares to warn motorists of an accident in the eastbound lanes that had occurred just minutes before.

Barbara Byrd had been a passenger in a car driven by James Kendall, 34, of Flint. Kendall's car went out of control on I-94, near Puetz road, and struck an empty auto that was stuck in the snow in the median, Murphy reported.

Kendall was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions, according to Murphy.

Four persons injured in an accident Monday at 4 a.m. on Miami road, near Seneca, St. Joseph township, were treated and released from Mercy hospital, according to township police.

Policeman said a car driven by Dale Gene Huff, 23, of 650 Crystal avenue, Benton township, was northbound on Miami when it began to slide. The auto struck an oncoming car driven by Selma Mae Farmer, 58, of 582 Broadway, Benton Harbor, police said.

Farmer complained of a neck injury, and a passenger in her car, O.C. Isom, 20, of 483 Colfax, Benton Harbor, received treatment for a bumped head.

Huff sustained facial cuts, according to the accident report. A passenger in his car, Michael Lee Parce, 25, of 2771 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph, complained of a knee injury. No tickets were issued, police said.

Cold Leads In A Wet Case

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Police were not sure where to begin looking for the snowman reported missing by a woman caller this week, but they did know when to start the search. Police Chief Lawrence Nowery said Mrs. David O'Neal called to say that she and her daughter, with the help of a friend, had constructed a nine-foot snowman Thursday afternoon. When the family arose Friday, she said, the frozen figure was missing. "This has got to be a first," said Nowery. "We'll issue an all-points bulletin and just hope we can clear the case before warm weather."

head of the village public works department, said total snowfall recorded there this winter to date is now 123 inches, compared to a total of 55 inches last winter.

The lowest temperature reported in the area was 6 below at Cassopolis. Readings along Lake Michigan were generally around 10 above, and varied widely from 10 above to 6 below.

Law enforcement agencies and road officials reported no major emergencies during the storm, except for the continuing series of minor traffic accidents.

No deaths were attributed to the weather in this area, but the Associated Press reported at least six fatal heart attacks were attributed to snow shoveling in Wayne county.

Among school and governmental units that cancelled or postponed their regular meetings last night were: St. Joseph school board; Coloma school board; Eau Claire school board and the Pennville and Gobles school boards; Hagar township board; Eau Claire village council; and Royalton township board.

Elsewhere in the state, the Associated Press reported:

Monday's blizzard dumped more than six inches of snow on the Detroit area and whipped up drifts several feet deep.

Power lines snapped, traffic was snarled, and schools and businesses were forced to close for the day. Traffic advisories were posted, and gale warnings went up for ships on the Great Lakes.

The brunt of the storm hit lower Michigan, but by nightfall traveler's advisories were issued in the U.P. as well.

Massive traffic backups resulted from the slippery conditions in the Detroit metropolitan area. The cold added a glaze of ice to some freeway ramps, and scores of accidents were reported.

Snowplows and salt trucks had trouble keeping highways open, because high winds covered the roads with new drifts as soon as they were cleared.

The Wayne County Medical Examiner's office recorded at least six fatal heart attacks from snow shoveling, and a similar death was reported in Troy.

Schools and businesses were hard hit by the storm which struck hardest at the lower two-thirds of the state. Visibility was reported 50 feet at times in the Brighton area and 100 feet on Interstate 75 from Monroe north to Saginaw.

Traffic on the Detroit freeway system was held to 25 miles an hour in some sections. The I-75 bridge over the Rouge River was closed for several hours, but reopened at midafternoon with police advising motorists it was still extremely slippery.

In the Lansing area, a gasoline tanker collided with a car on westbound Interstate 96, spilling 7,000 gallons of gasoline onto the already mushy highway. The westbound lanes were closed while fuel still in the tank cars was pumped out.

Shiawassee County truck drivers, who double as snowplow operators, remained on strike as the area was blanketed with six to eight inches of new snow. County officials said two striking workers were operating trucks on an emergency-only basis. County roads remained snow covered.

An Amtrak train from Jackson to Detroit arrived an hour and 15 minutes late after cars separated when the train hit a bump in the track. The trip was made without heat or toilet facilities. Railroad officials said they didn't know the exact nature of the bump.

She's Willing To Travel

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — Lt. Judith A. Neuffer, who says she hung out at airports as a child, now wants to hang out in a spaceship! One of the first women accepted after the Navy opened its pilot training program to women in 1972, Lt. Neuffer wants to become the nation's first woman astronaut.

The 28-year-old Wooster, Ohio, native, stationed at Patuxent Naval Air Test Center, applied recently to join the space program, and expects to learn by summer whether she made it. She got her pilot's wings in 1974, and was assigned to hurricane assignment in Florida. That meant flying giant RP3 Orions through the storms at 10,000 and 300 feet, to check on the hurricanes' intensity and direction. Winds in the hurricane reach 140 mph, and even as large a plane as an RP3 gets bounced around. "At 500 feet there isn't much room if the plane suddenly drops in a downdraft," said Lt. Neuffer. "There were times when my palms would get quite clammy."

Cold Leads In A Wet Case

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Police were not sure where to begin looking for the snowman reported missing by a woman caller this week, but they did know when to start the search. Police Chief Lawrence Nowery said Mrs. David O'Neal called to say that she and her daughter, with the help of a friend, had constructed a nine-foot snowman Thursday afternoon. When the family arose Friday, she said, the frozen figure was missing. "This has got to be a first," said Nowery.

"We'll issue an all-points bulletin and just hope we can clear the case before winter weather."

Big Names Carry Fancy CB Handles

DETROIT (AP) — If you hear a Tin Lizzie, a Red Devil or a Polish Sausage calling you, it means you are being paged by some of Michigan's more famous citizen band radio operators.

Politicians, sports figures, society types, newsmen and radio-TV personalities... are among those bitten by the CB bug.

Red Devil, for example, is the name Detroit Pistons star Bob Lanier uses. Tin Lizzie is the code name for Henry Ford's daughter, Charlotte Forstmann, while the Polish Sausage is state Rep. Thaddeus Stopcynski of Detroit.

You may have trouble reaching Alex DeVecchio, coach of the Detroit Red Wings. He's not telling his handle.

If your call to High Flyer goes through, you will be in touch with Edward Cole, former president of General Motors.

Call DC and you may reach his wife, Dollie. They have been CB fans for 10 years.

New Buffalo Voters Roll Back Rezoning

NEW BUFFALO — In a special referendum here yesterday, city voters reversed a previous city council rezoning decision that had cleared the way for a proposed $750,000 apartments project.

According to unofficial returns, the August city council rezoning action was reversed 368 to 64 as 432 of the city's 1,300 registered voters braved blizzard-like weather to get to the polls.

The ballot was worded in such a way that people who voted "yes," were voting to rescind the city council rezoning action, and people who voted "no," were voting to affirm the council decision.

At issue was whether vacant land on parts of Jameson and Bronson streets was to be rezoned from residential to multiple family, planned unit development.

The rezoning was originally sought by Grelac Real Estate Investment and Management Co., which had proposed building 48, one- and two-bedroom apartments on the site.

The project was later taken over by William J. Archambault Jr. of Kalamazoo, according to New Buffalo city officials.

City Manager William Marx said previously that much of the opposition to the proposed project was based on fears of what kinds of people the medium-rent apartments would draw to the city.

QUEEN CONTEST

Buchanan Lists Entry Deadline

BUCHANAN — The deadline for girls to submit applications to enter the Buchanan Community Blossom queen contest is Friday, Jan. 14, according to Mrs. Jack (Roberta) Beatty, contest chairman. Application forms may be obtained at the Buchanan high school office or at the Stationery Center in Buchanan. Mrs. Beatty said girls between the ages of 17 and 21 and who are attending or who have graduated from Buchanan high school are eligible to enter.

"What Are Little Girls Made Of?" is the theme of the contest, to be staged Saturday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m. in the Buchanan high school auditorium.

Assisting Mrs. Beatty are co-chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Miller of Buchanan.

The winner of the Miss Buchanan contest will represent her community in the Miss Blossomtime Queen pageant, to be held Monday, March 28, at the Lakeshore high school auditorium in Stevensville.

The Miss Buchanan contest is

MiOSHA Meetings Get Started In Area

The Michigan Department of Labor was scheduled to open a series of January meetings in southwestern Michigan today to assist private and governmental employers with preparation of 1976 report forms required under the Michigan Occupational Health and Safety Act (MiOSHA).

The meeting slated today at the Van Buren Skill Center, Lawrence, is for state, county, city and other local governmental unit employers. A second meeting will be held for all private employers on Thursday of this week, at the same site.

Two separate sessions will be held each day, from 8 a.m. to Noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

The next set of meetings will be Jan. 18 for governmental employers and Jan. 20 for private employers, both at The Twin Cities Chamber of Commerce, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor. Separate morning and afternoon sessions are scheduled.

The final set of meetings in southwestern Michigan will be Jan. 25 for governmental employers and Jan. 27 for private employers, both at Michigan Fruit Canners plant in Fennville.

A number of consultants from the department's Safety Education and Training Division will be present at each session to explain and to assist employers individually with preparation of Forms 100, 101 and 102.

DECATUR — About 20 contestants are expected for the Decatur community Blossom queen contest scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, at the high school, according to Mrs. Mark (Sally) High, contest chairman.

She said deadline for entering the contest is this week Thursday.

Mrs. High said queen committee members are expected to choose a contest theme later this week.

Winner of the Decatur contest will represent her community in the March 28 Miss Blossomtime pageant to be held at Lakeshore high school in Stevensville.

Decatur Board Opposes Rail Crossing Closings

DECATUR — A Decatur school board official said this morning that the school board plans on protesting a proposal to close several rail crossings in the district.

Board President Harry Vliek said the school district and the fire department plan to coordinate their objections for presentation at a Jan. 18, hearing on the proposal.

The hearing is to be held at the Van Buren county road commission office in Lawrence.

The school board discussed the possible closings during a regular meeting last night but took no formal position.

Under the proposal, crossings that would be closed would be the 42nd street, 40th street and the 38th street crossings, all east of the village of Decatur. The closings would deadend the streets on either side of the tracks.

Amtrak rail officials said they want those crossings, along with the 72nd avenue crossing west of Lawton, closed, and crossing safety lights and gates added at perhaps as many as 14 other crossings along the southeast corner of the county.

The proposal to close the crossings and install safety equipment is part of a proposal that would permit the railroad to increase its speed from 60 miles per hour to 79 mph along the route and generally speed up the train between Port Huron and Chicago, according to Paul Kaiser, engineer-manager of the county road commission.

He said county and village officials could be forced to share equally in the installation of the $50,000 per crossing safety equipment.

At the Jan. 18 meeting, officials of townships, villages and school districts to be affected by proposed closings will have a chance to present objections to the state highway and transportation department, Kaiser added.

Vilek said the board last night discussed how the closings would affect bus routes and emergency services and which roads were involved.

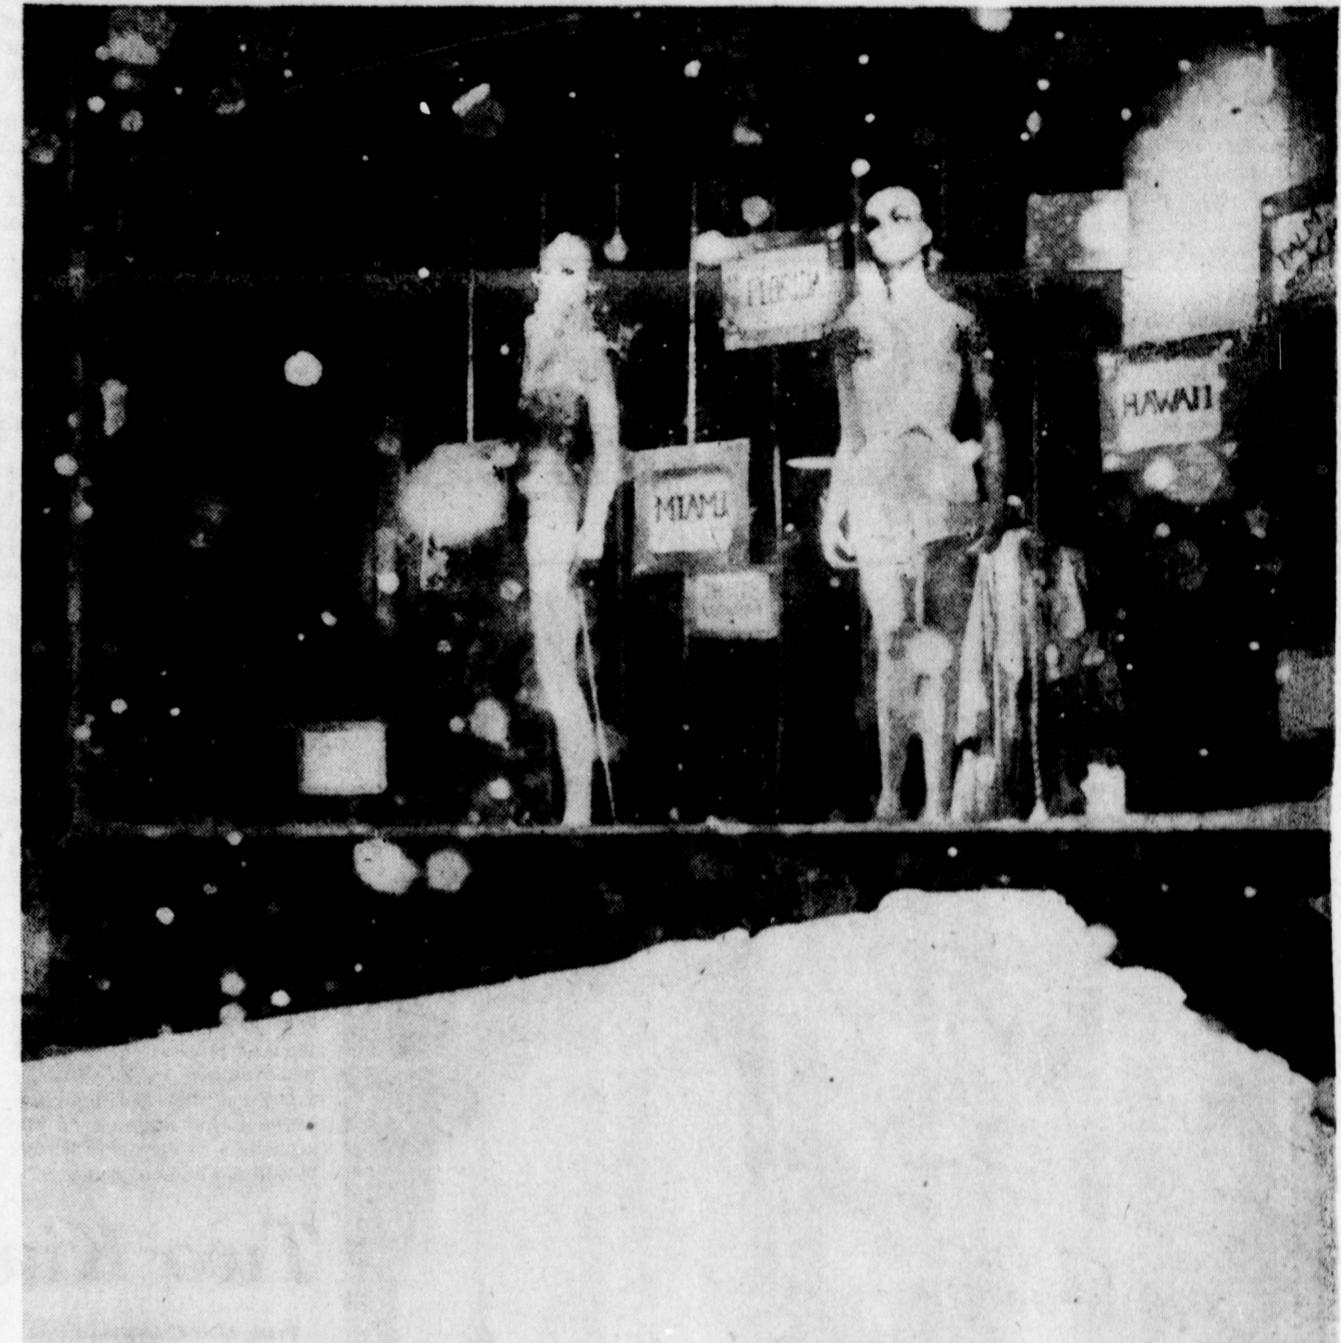

He said it is his understanding that besides the crossings slated by the railroad for closing, the village also plans to close park and East streets crossings in the village, leaving Williams, George and Sherwood streets open.

In another area last night, the board voted to give a pay increase of about six per cent to the driver of the bus to the Van Buren Skills center in Lawrence.

The driver will now receive $20 a day instead of $18.91 a day for two round trips.

Hartford Mayor Proposes New Post

HARTFORD — Funds for a full-time administrator who could keep an eye on city books and funds were included in a 1977 Hartford city budget proposed last night by Hartford Mayor Wayne Nelson.

Under the mayor's proposal, the administrator, a controller, would be paid $15,000 yearly. The new position was included in the $475,373 budget for 1977 which will get final action at the council's next meeting, Jan. 24.

Nelson told the council a controller is needed because city books are not now accurate and because city funds were missing for more than a year before being made up in part last June by a former city clerk.

Mrs. Jewell Story, who did not seek re-election in November after holding the clerk's office for seven years, said in December she put $2,222 of her own money back into the city treasury last June.

The shortage in 1974 city tax funds was discovered by an audit.

The 1977 proposed budget of $475,373 is about $64,000 greater than the 1976 budget of $411,118.

It includes the police department allocation of $116,181, about $500 less than the department's 1976 allocation of $116,696.

The size of the budget for the department's seven men and a clerk brought some questions from those at the council meeting last night.

But Mayor Nelson said a year in office has convinced him the city needs a 24-hour, 365-day police force.

Other recommendations from Nelson include a general fund contingency of $27,595, and keeping the salary of the clerk at $7,500; that of the treasurer at $7,000; and the assessor at $2,782.

In action during council reorganization, Milton Wehrmeier Jr. was elected mayor pro tem. Council members named to committee chairmanships were Eugene Kirsch, finance; Elmer Hadley, public works; Michael Duffy Jr., police; Louise Engle, legislative; and Lois Budreau, general administration.

The council also reappointed Homer Jackson as superintendent of public works, Thomas Melville as treatment plant operator and Lee Spencer as police chief.

Their salaries are to be set with the budget's adoption, councilmen said.

ADA, Ohio (AP) — Ray B. Loeschner, president of Olivet College in Olivet, Mich., has been named president of Ohio Northern University, trustees announced. Loeschner, 45, will take office at the beginning of the 1977-78 academic year, trustee president Walter English said. He succeeds Samuel L. Meyer, who is retiring after serving as Ohio Northern president since 1965. Loeschner, whose background includes experience as a teacher and administrator, has been president of Olivet College since 1970.

Associates of Kalamazoo, who conducted a study of the buildings after concerned parents had requested the school board seek a professional opinion on the condition of the two buildings.

Voters in the River Valley district have twice turned down a bond issue that would have provided funds to build a new middle school to replace the present two middle schools, both of which are more than 50 years old.

The representatives will be available to answer questions from the public. At the same time reports will be given on investigations conducted in the two buildings by the Berrien county health department and fire chiefs from Three Oaks and New Troy.

In other areas, the bid of $1,640 submitted by City Plumbing and Heating, St. Joseph, was accepted by the board for a new gas-fired 85-gallon water heater for the Chikaming elementary school. The bid of Dent Plumbing and Heating, Inc., Kalamazoo, was lower, but for a smaller size heater, according to the board.

Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, told the board that job descriptions for all non-certified employees are being developed and will be presented for board approval on completion.

He also told the board that the River Valley district did not come under the state requirements that would make it necessary to provide free breakfasts to some students.

Vermontville Bank Robbed

VERMONTVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Authorities searched today for a lone gunman who held up a branch of the Michigan National Bank and fled with about $1,200 on Monday. The bandit dropped a small packet of bills as he fled down an alley to his car. The amount he left behind was not disclosed by Eaton County deputies.

The man entered the bank, waved a rifle or shotgun and demanded money, police said. After the man fled, authorities set up roadblocks but were unable to capture him. No shots were fired, and no injuries were reported in the holdup. Police first believed two robbers were involved but said today the man apparently acted alone.

HARBOR STUDY DUE

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Buffalo, N.Y., man and two state officials will study Michigan's 22 commercial harbors, the Department of State Highways and Transportation has announced. The 18-month study to begin this month will be conducted by Francis D. Flori, former trade development manager for the Port of Buffalo, and Joseph Cook and Joseph McCann, supervisors in the department's port division. The $400,000 study, funded by the legislature, will evaluate the role of harbors in the state's economy, predict their future and suggest improvements.

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Police were hopeful today the final words of a Dearborn grocer would provide a lead to a slayer who him during a holdup. John Taormina, 60, died in a hospital Monday a short time after Dearborn police taped his final words, believed to be in an Italian dialect. A witness told police Taormina was alone in his store Sunday when the holdup man entered.

BRIDGEMAN — The Bridgeman school board is taking two steps to apparently try and defuse some of the controversy over the janitorial firm that is being paid nearly $40,000 to clean school buildings this year.

In action last night, the board voted to hire a University of Michigan team to study what the school is getting for its money from Ross Cleaning service of St. Joseph.

And in a letter to board critic John Nolan of rural Bridgeman, Board President Robert Roth said "...a legal opinion will be obtained from a qualified attorney retained by the Bridgeman board of education" to determine whether any administrators have a financial interest in the firm.

Roth wrote in a Jan. 6 letter to Nolan, that the board had not "closed" its investigation of allegations that Supt. David Lechner has an interest in the firm, but that the board is convinced no administrators have financial connections with the firm.

He wrote the board was hiring the attorney to "further satisfy this matter."

Dr. Lechner has previously denied any financial interest in the St. Joseph-based cleaning firm and has offered to resign in the face of proof otherwise.

Roth's written comments to Nolan were not mentioned on the board's session last night. Nolan made a copy of the letter available to this newspaper.

Nolan had written Roth on Dec. 30, asking for permission to get on the board's Jan. 10 agenda and address the board in its public session.

Roth in his letter refused to permit Nolan to get on the agenda.

The university team hired by the board last night is from the Bureau of School Services. Local school officials will collect data on the cleaning service and submit it to the team for study, and recommendations, according to Dr. Lechner.

He said the study will cost an estimated $1,500.

In other business last night, the board set Feb. 14 as the date when it is scheduled to sell $2.6 million in bonds to finance construction of a middle school.

The board said it will also decide at its February meeting what to do with a house, barn and other buildings on the Theodore Katzbach property the school purchased as the site for the middle school.

The board also said it will hold its annual board dinner at Scotty's in New Buffalo, but said a date for the dinner has not been set yet.

Decatur Board Opposes Rail Crossing Closings

DECATUR — A Decatur school board official said this morning that the school board plans on presenting a proposal to close several rail crossings in the district.

Board President Harry Viek said the school district and the fire department plan to coordinate their objections for presentation at a Jan. 18 hearing on the proposal.

The hearing is to be held at the Van Buren county road commission office in Lawrence.

The school board discussed the possible closings during a regular meeting last night but took no formal position.

Under the proposal, crossings that would be closed would be the Third street, 4th street and the 3rd street crossings, all east of the village of Decatur. The crossings would divide the streets on either side of the tracks.

Amtrak rail officials said they want these crossings, along with the 72nd avenue crossing west of Lawton, closed, and crossing safety lights and gates added at perhaps as many as 14 other crossings along the southeast corner of the county.

The proposal to close the crossings and install safety equipment is part of a proposal that would permit the railroad to increase its speed from 30 miles per hour to 70 mph along the route and generally speed up the train between Port Huron and Chicago, according to Paul Kalster, engineer-manager of the county road commission.

Major Colleges Voting To Reorganize Division I

By ED SHEARER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Smaller schools which carry the voting clout in the National Collegiate Athletic Association only get to watch today when the major colleges vote on a proposal for restructuring Division I.

They will do so with intense interest.

"I've never felt until now the point that the big schools might leave the NCAA," said Stanley J. Marshall, athletic director at South Dakota State University.

"We stand a very good chance of losing several fine institutions if reorganization is not approved. We will suffer. They will not suffer. We will suffer financially and in prestige."

Marshall pleaded with his fellow members of Division II to vocally support the reorganization plan, a package of proposals that sets criteria for membership in Division I. Such a proposed criteria include one to require the top classification in both football and basketball, plus six other sports.

Division I basketball schools that presently have no football program expressed concern Monday over the loss of voting rights in Division I. Such a school could declare its intent to comply with the criteria and have three years to meet the requirements, but during that period they would be forced to vote in Division II.

There was the possibility an amendment would be offered to allow schools to vote in Division I matters involving the sport in which the school carries Division I status.

"This is basically an attempt to placate the football powers," said the Rev. Phillip Callaghan, NCAA faculty representative from San Francisco. "I've heard a lot of rhetoric about how much we owe them, but we all pay the same dues, don't we?"

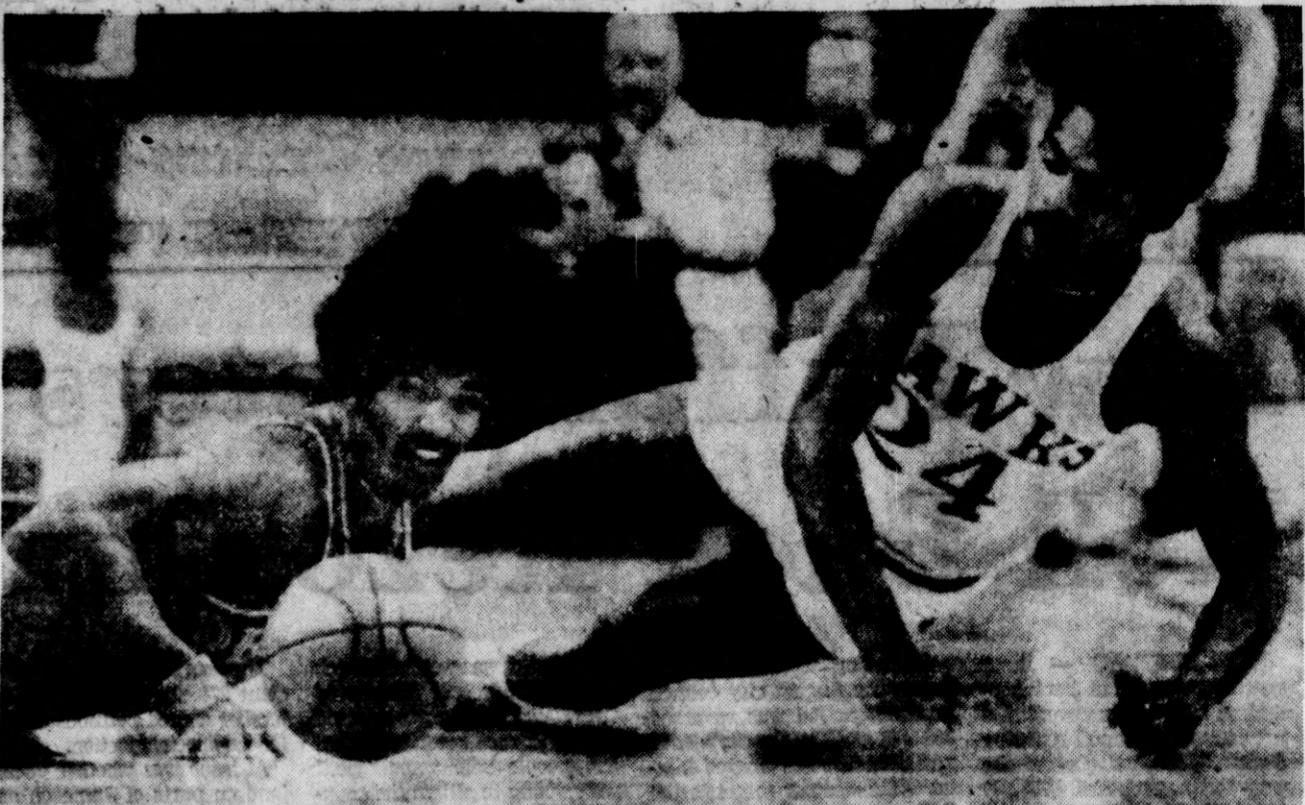

San Francisco does not meet the eight-sport criteria and would drop to Division II. The school is ranked No. 1 nationally in the Associated Press college basketball poll.

Division II schools also will watch the Division I vote on athletic scholarships based on need. A straw vote during a roundtable Monday showed the division favors a plan offered by Oregon State to provide only tuition and mandatory fees for athletes, who would then apply for any other aid on a need basis through the channels used by the nonathlete student.

Stanley Galloway, commissioner of the Gulf South Conference, urged the Division II members to make certain Division I approves aid based on the need proposal first, citing a disadvantage to the smaller schools if they are unable to compete for athletes on the same basis as the larger schools by offering athletic grants.

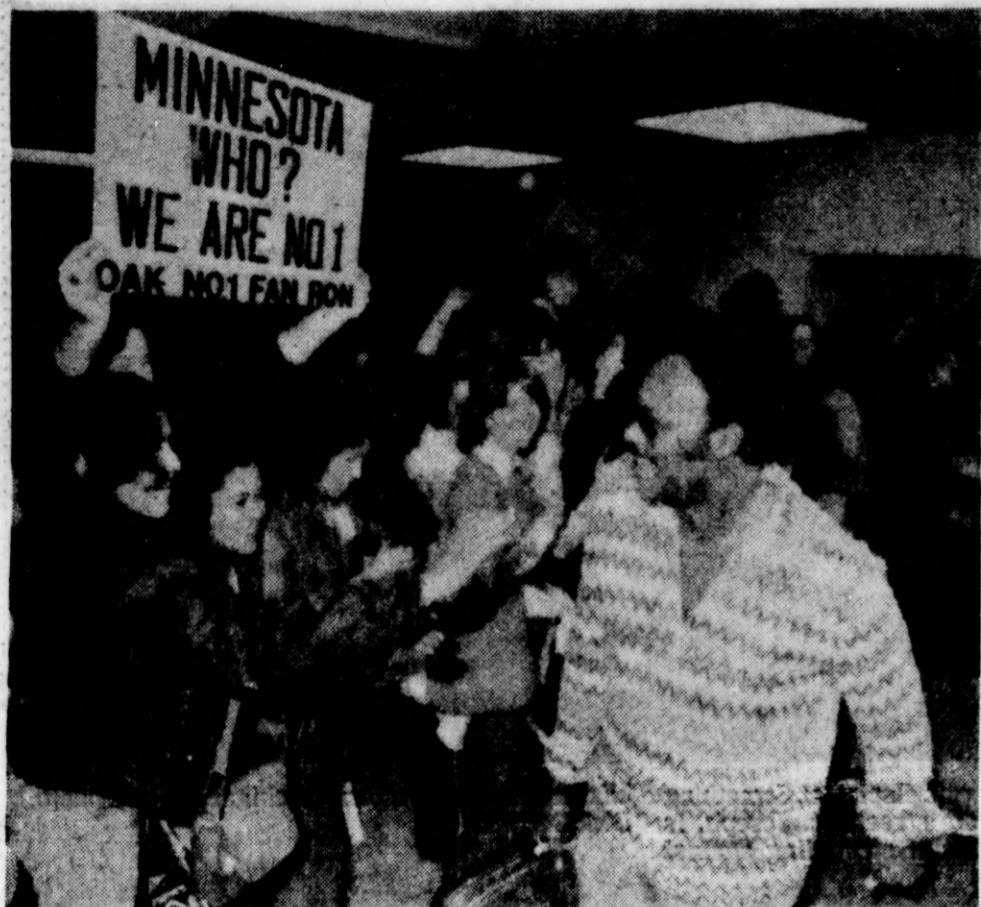

"I for one, question the wisdom of having a winter draft," said Danny Menendez, the director of scouting for the Montreal Expos. "The talent in the winter draft just doesn't compare with the June draft."

Super Bowl Not Most Exciting Sports Event

By WILL GRIMESLEY

AP Special Correspondent
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — As the Oakland Raiders and Minnesota Vikings lined up for Super Bowl XI, in a magnificent Rose Bowl setting with the snow-capped San Gabriel Mountains as a backdrop, a reporter in the press box could not restrain his enthusiasm.

"This must be the most exciting moment in all sports," he remarked.

Three seats away, a weather-beaten old codger who must have lugged countless typewriters up untold press box steps for numerous events of various description, overheard and demurred.

"Naw," he said. "Can't compare with a big heavyweight prize fight."

The impromptu dialogue set off a lively discussion among newsmen, even as the game progressed, on what creates the fastest pulse beat among a caressed breed not easily impressed.

The consensus: No sports event creates sparks to match those that occur moments before two outstanding heavyweights enter the ring for a title fight. At the same time, it was agreed, there is no general sports spectacle that can bring lumps into the throats of strong men like the opening and closing pageantry of an Olympic Games.

"I'm proud of our team for winning four games in eight days," said Alabama Coach C.M. Newton. "As tight as the conference race is, there is a lot of mental tiredness as well as physical. Our December schedule is behind us. Instead of 13-0, we're 4-0 in the conference. That's what matters."

One reason the SEC race is so tight is Bernard King. The SEC scoring leader also poured in 31 points Monday night to power Tennessee to a 92-82 triumph over Florida, boosting the Vols' record to 3-0 in the conference and 9-2 overall.

"Bernard King is the best one-on-one player in America," Florida Coach John Lotz declared. "He plays with a lot of emotion and enthusiasm. A lot of people have bad-mouthed him, but I tell you this — I would like to have him."

The two Kings, who are not related, promise to help their teams provide solid challenges to the SEC favorite, Kentucky. The Wildcats, ranked second nationally behind San Francisco, are 2-0 in SEC play and 9-1 overall. They were idle Monday night.

In other games involving Top Twenty teams, No. 16 Arkansas trimmed Texas Tech 60-53 and No. 18 Memphis State beat Tulane 78-64.

Alabama and Mississippi were tied 70-70 with 11 minutes left, but the Crimson Tide dominated play after. Two baskets by freshman Robert Scott the final minute of play clinched the victory for Alabama.

Tennessee's Ernie Grunfeld, who edged out teammate Bernard King for the SEC scoring crown last season, added 25 points for the Vols. He hit a pair of three-point plays at the opening of the second half to put the Vols in command at 44-37. The Gators closed to within two in the late going but could not catch up.

Arkansas, 11-1, jumped out to a 13-point lead over Texas Tech, saw the Raiders move within six but then got five points from sophomore guard Sidney

The Super Bowl, by its very nature, isn't able to produce the warm, personal attachment that comes from a baseball World Series or, for that matter, a Masters golf tournament.

Baseball players become living, breathing characters — even to the millions watching on TV. Viewers see Luis Tiant chew, spit and exude large beads of sweat. They see a batter's muscles tense up and his eyes scan an outfield wall. They share the emotion.

"There are usually one or two prime kids who drop out of school," sighed one scout. "But the best kids now seem to be staying in school — at least until June."

Menendez wouldn't reveal the Expos' first pick.

"It would not be a prudent approach," he said. "Revealing our choices would alert every agent in America. The kids would be flooded with every legitimate and illegitimate agent around."

Whether scouts favor the winter draft or not, baseball's system of replenishing its talent is hanging by a legal thread.

A federal court has ruled that the football draft violates the antitrust laws because it severely restricts a player's free-market potential.

Baseball's draft would receive the same treatment from the courts, but for a 1922 Supreme Court decision that gave the national pastime immunity from the antitrust laws.

Rams-Redskins In Key Wolverine Clash

'Must Win' Game For Lakeshore

The moment of truth has arrived for Lakeshore's Lancers.

Lakeshore hosts Brandywine tonight in a Elementary conference battle. The Lancers face a must-win situation if they are to entertain even slim title hopes.

Brandywine stands alone atop the league standings with a perfect 5-0 record, while Lakeshore brings a 3-3 league mark into the contest.

"I still think there is an outside chance for us in the league title picture," Lancer coach Lloyd MacTavish says. "We can't afford to lose another one in the conference, however. It's a real outside chance, but it's better than no chance."

Brandywine, ranked 11th in the latest Associated Press Class C poll, stands 8-1 overall.

But that one loss was to Lakeshore in the Lancer Holiday Tournament. In other top games tonight, St. Joseph travels to Portage Central, Paw Paw battles with South Haven in a key Wolverine battle and Pennville is at Bangor in the dedication of the new Viking Gym.

Lakeshore dropped five of its first six games, but has come back to three of four.

"We've got about seven or eight kids playing well for us right now," MacTavish says. "What is really helping us is that we have a lot of depth on the team and it's starting to come through now. Hopefully our period of adjustment is just about over."

"We had very good success the first time we played Brandywine in defeating their offense. We will have to be just as effective defensively again and force them to do things they're not accustomed to doing. We also have to rebound with them and avoid stupid fouls."

Brandywine was able to stay in the first contest, a 64-64 overtime defeat, by hitting on 24 of 36 free throw chances.

St. Joseph will be trying to break a three-game losing streak against Portage Central. The Bears will again be without centers Jeff Beal (ankle injury) and Mike Berg (knee injury). Either Mike Kline, Keene Taylor or Paul Knuth will open in the pivot, instead.

key personnel don't help, especially to those who get a lot of our rebounds."

"We have to be a little bit more intense and show more desire and determination."

Portage Central brings a 2-2 Big Seven record and 5-6 overall mark into the game, while the Bears stand just 1-3 and 3-4, respectively.

Paw Paw and South Haven share their Wolverine title hopes on the line in tonight's clash. The Bears will again be without centers Jeff Beal (ankle injury) and Mike Berg (knee injury). Either Mike Kline, Keene Taylor or Paul Knuth will open in the pivot, instead.

"We've been working on the things that have always worked for us in the past in trying to break the losing streak," St. Joe coach George Gaudier says. "Certainly the injuries to this week where we've got to win at least one of our two games to stay in the race. It would knock us right out of it, to lose both of them. Tonight's game is a big one if we're going to win the conference championship."

South Haven, which has not lost at home this year, travels to Comstock Friday.

Paw Paw coach Dave Anderson also believes in the game's importance.

"The way the conference is going, every game is a pivotal game," he explains. "It certainly would help if we could win it."

"We're going to count on our strong points. We've been playing good defense and we're going to have to continue to do so against South Haven. We also have to try and hold our own on the boards."

Paw Paw leads southwestern Michigan in defense, allowing just 36.1 points per game. But South Haven has climbed to seventh in the area with a 57.1 defensive mark.

"The last three ballgames we've played good defense," White says. "But we've got to improve our offense. We've got to hit the basket better than we've been hitting it. There are two ways of doing that. You can either improve your shot selection or improve your shot. As a coach, I feel we've got to improve our selection."

South Haven is led in scoring by forward Mike Grimes (16.8 per game), while Willie Gipson (16.1) tops Paw Paw.

Bangor will count on its one-two scoring punch in the dedication game. Ricky Ross sports a 16.3 scoring mark, while Dave Gregory brings in a 16.1 average. The new Viking Gym will seat 3,000 fans.

SNOOPIN' AROUND

By JOHN VANDEN HEDE

Turkey numbers in the Allegan area appear to be down from last year, so the Department of Natural Resources is cutting back on the annual spring gobbler hunt.

This will be accomplished by limiting the hunt in Unit 2 (south of the Kalamazoo River) to a single five-day hunt (May 4-8). There will continue to be two seasons in Unit 1 (April 27-May 1 and May 4-8).

There will be 225 permits available overall for Allegan — down 75 from last year — with 75 issued for each five-day hunt.

Ten tom turkeys were taken in Unit 2 last spring, but most were shot near the perimeter of state land or on private land, suggesting that harassment of various kinds on state lands through the year (snowmobiles, motorcycles, mushroom pickers, hunters, hikers, etc.) had discouraged birds from populating much of the state game land.

The Department of Natural Resources realizes the turkey hunting was one of the disturbance factors in the area, but it wants to see if reduced hunting pressure will help the turkeys.

There will also be turkey hunting again this year in the Mio and Baldwin areas, where numbers appear as good or better than last spring.

The DNR will again have four hunting units in Mio, but there will be some changes. Last year most of the turkeys (77 per cent) were taken in Unit 1, which is primarily private land. So the DNR will have four hunting periods instead of three to allow an additional 600 hunters to participate. But the seasons will be four days instead of five, which was the case last year.

The Baldwin hunting area will also be about 200 square miles larger because of the successful spring rearing season.

Baldwin hunting dates are April 27-May 1, May 2-6 and May 11-15. In Unit A at Mio, dates are April 28-May 1, May 2-5, May 6-9 and May 10-13. Mio's Units 2, 3 and 4 will have hunts April 27-May 1, May 2-6 and May 7-11.

A total of 6,375 permits will be available, including 700 for each of the three seasons in the Baldwin area. At Mio, Unit 1 will have 600 for each of the four seasons (2,400 in all), while Unit 2 has 300 for each of three seasons, Unit 3 150 for each of three seasons and Unit 4 100 for each of three seasons.

If total applications exceed the quota for any season in any of the units or areas, a drawing will be held to determine the successful applicants for each season.

Applications for permits must be mailed between Feb. 1 and 28 to: Wild Turkey, Box 30030, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

The record number of 397 turkeys were taken last spring in the hunt which has been going on for nine years.

Fur Prices

Stay High

Michigan fur prices remain high.

A recent fur auction held by the Southern Michigan Trappers Association saw muskrats selling from $5.50 to $6.00, male mink $20 to $24, female mink $12 to $15, red fox $55 to $62 and prime raccoon from $24 to $32.

Two more auctions are slated by the SMTA this winter. There will be one Saturday at the Ravenna Sportsman's Club, located north of Grand Rapids, and another Jan. 29-30 at Marshall.

Watching Good

Bird watchers are still enjoying the evening flights of geese and ducks at the Allegan State Game Area. There are about 7,500 Canada geese and an estimated 12,000 ducks at the refuge.

APE LARGEST

The gorilla, giant of the ape world, is the biggest and heaviest of all the primates.

THE LANGUAGE OF DERMATOLOGISTS

Impetigo, ecthyma, sycois vulgaris and paronychia are not words that you would ordinarily hear during your average day. But, they are part of the everyday language of a physician. These particular words refer to specific skin conditions that must have a certain type of treatment.

There are many products a dermatologist can prescribe to help a person with a skin condition. We carry them in our pharmacy. On many occasions we compound a special formula at the request of the physician.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

Area's Parks Set Attendance Marks

Attendance records were set in 1976 at Warren Dunes State Park in Berrien county and Van Buren State Park, located near South Haven.

Warren Dunes topped the million mark for the fourth straight year with a total of 1,278,000 which ranks second statewide. Holland remained on top with a turnout of 1,386,000.

Warren Dunes' total included 1,143,989 day-use visitors and 134,859 campers. The park also issued 12,889 camp permits.

Van Buren had 131,867 for day-use and 77,537 for camping. The park also issued a record 6,918 camping permits, up from the previous mark of 6,358 the previous year.

Visitors were also turned away at both parks because of capacity conditions. A total of 8,499 camping vehicles and 6,367 day-use cars were rejected at Warren Dunes, while Van Buren had to turn away 481 campers.

The Department of Natural Resources estimates that the final overall 1976 attendance for 79 state park and recreation areas at a record 21,930,000. The mark is eight per cent more than 1975 and beats by 16,000 the previous attendance record of 21,914,000 set in 1971.

The only project of significance at southwestern Michigan's two state parks is a suspension bridge scheduled to be constructed this year over the Galien River at Warren Woods. It will allow visitors to get from the new parking lot on the south side of the river to the area's virgin timber on the north side.

Weekend Sports Show At ACC

Over 130 exhibitors from South Carolina and Kentucky to Western and Eastern Provinces of Canada, from Michigan to Minnesota and the Michigan area, occupying over 180 booths covering over 150,000 sq. ft. of space under both domes of the Notre Dame ACC, are set for Recreation '77 Friday through Sunday.

The second annual Michigan Sports, Travel and Boat Show, Recreation '77, will feature displays of on-off road vehicles, RV's, small trucks, four-wheel drive vehicles and special vans in one self-contained area under one entire dome of the Notre Dame ACC.

Another entire dome of the ACC will cover an array of boats from pontoons and kayaks to yachts.

And in two sections, between and around the domes, the show features exhibits of virtually every kind of sporting, leisure and recreational equipment and service.

strations and special interest exhibits can be seen. The sports demonstrations include: karate, three daily fishing seminars, roller skating, gymnastics and a special speed round archery tournament. The American land speed record holding diesel truck, "the Liberty Belle", a full size Cessna 150 airplane and a fully operational robot are just three of the special attractions at the show.

A total of 6,375 permits will be available, including 700 for each of the three seasons in the Baldwin area. At Mio, Unit 1 will have 300 for each of the four seasons (2,400 in all), while Unit 2 has 300 for each of three seasons, Unit 3 100 for each of three seasons and Unit 4 100 for each of three seasons.

If total applications exceed the quota for any season in any of the units or areas, a drawing will be held to determine the successful applicants for each season.

Applications for permits must be mailed between Feb. 1 and 28 to: WMI Turkey, Box 30035, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

The record number of 367 turkeys were taken last spring in the hunt which has been going on for nine years.

Fur Prices Stay High

Michigan fur prices remain high.

A recent fur auction held by the Southern Michigan Trappers Association saw mink skins selling from $5.50 to $12.50, mink mink $30 to $34, ferretts mink $12 to $18, red fox $35 to $47 and prime raccoons from $30 to $52.

The more auctions are closed by the SMTA this winter. There will be one Saturday at the Stevens Sportman's Club, located north of Grand Rapids, and another Jan. 20-21 at Marshall.

Assessor Quits, Bids Opened At Paw Paw

By DENNIE COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw village council last night voted to accept the resignation of village assessor Juanita Thomas.

In a letter read at last night's meeting, Mrs. Thomas said she was moving outside the village, but had enjoyed her association with it. Village President Charles Smith announced applications will be taken to fill the remainder of her term, which expires in March, 1978.

In other business, the council referred to its public works committee for study bids received last night for a police car, dump truck, and hopper spreader. Apparent low bidders were:

John Dir Chevrolet, $4,686 for the police car; Miller Equipment, Grand Rapids, $3,043 for the spreader; and John Tapper Oldsmobile, Paw Paw, $8,988 for the dump truck.

A bid by Tapper on the police car was not opened because it arrived about three minutes after the start of the 8 p.m. meeting when bids were to be received.

Village Atty. Warren Sundstrand told the council that the Interstate Commerce commission will hold a hearing March 2 on a request by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad to abandon its spur between Paw Paw and Hartford. The hearing will be held in Paw Paw, but no specific site has yet been determined.

The council has opposed the abandonment because of possible adverse impact on area businesses.

The council voted to apply $6.70 the village has received from the Michigan Power company as part of a lowered fuel cost adjustment to any future fuel cost increases. The village sells electricity to village residents that it buys from Michigan Power.

Trustee David Richardson said trying to give each customer a small refund now would present a large bookkeeping problem.

The council also gave approval for the March of Dimes to solicit donations in the village Jan. 16-22.

Coloma Council Eyes Library Plans

COLOMA — The Coloma city commission last night extended an invitation to the Coloma public library board to attend its Jan. 24 meeting to discuss future plans regarding a new library.

The invitation was extended at the request of Coloma Mayor Glenn Randall to learn the board's feelings on the commission's offer to give the library board a city-owned parking lot as a site for a new library building. The lot is off Paw Paw street near East Logan street.

Randall said that if the library board determines it is not interested in the lot, someone else has expressed a desire to purchase the property. Randall declined to identify the interested party.

Allegan GOP Will Meet On Jan. 19

ALLEGAN — Election of delegates to attend the state Republican convention in February will lead the agenda when Allegan county Republicans meet here Jan. 19. John A. Watts, chairman of the Allegan county Republican executive committee, said county GOP delegates are to meet for the county convention at 8 p.m. Jan. 19 in the county commissioners' room at the county building. State delegates chosen will attend the state GOP convention slated for Feb. 18-19 at Cobo hall in Detroit.

In a related area, the commission voted to request copies of minutes of library board meetings so commissioners will be aware of the board's activities.

Commissioner Mrs. Wavia Noack said the action was taken because the city's representatives on the board, Miss Emily Shoup and Lynn Scott, do not report the board's action to commission members.

In other areas, the commission voted not to allow movers of a house to travel through the downtown area of Coloma, but instead travel along Red Arrow highway to Watervliet, the final destination for the house.

The house is being moved by Lavon Parrigin. The commission additionally voted to require a $1,000 cash bond from Parrington to cover possible damage incurred in the moving while inside the city.

The commission set Monday, Feb. 14, at 8:30 p.m., for a public hearing on a request to rezone property at 222 West Center from residential to mulit-family use to allow for a three-apartment building.

The request was submitted by Gary Dolezan, representing his father, Ky Dolezan, who is in the process of purchasing the property.

Mrs. Noack reported a parking survey prepared by James Noack, city public works coordinator, showed the city will lose 14 parking spaces when the city converts from angle to parallel parking on the west side of Paw Paw street in the near future. Noack is a nephew of Mrs. Noack.

Thirty-four angle parking spaces would be replaced by 20 parallel parking places in the two-block area.

The commission approved establishment of a new sinking fund to finance purchase of a city fire truck in the next 20 years. The commission set aside $6,070 to begin the new fund.

Commissioner William

Weybright reported that two-hour parking time limit signs will be posted in the downtown area soon, limiting parking hours between 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Mayor Randall suggested the commission consider taking action in the future on rezoning a large tract of industrial land in the city's northwest corner for either single family or multi-family housing use.

Randall indicated the property should have been rezoned years ago since a large housing subdivision is located in the center of the large tract. The land is located north of Grand Tran Inc. on the west side of Park street.

Coffee Tempts

Danish Thieves

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Thieves tempted by sharply rising coffee prices have stolen a truck containing 2,418 pounds of coffee worth about $8,500 in the northern town of Aalborg, police said. Danish coffee prices have jumped from $1.75 to $3.50 in the past year or so.

Buchanan Votes To Accept Gift Of Access Road

BY JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan city commission last night voted to accept the gift of an access road to proposed park along the St. Joseph river here.

The gift was from the late Harold A. Smith who owned Smitty's marina which is currently served by the road. The road was valued at $6,000.

In return, the commission agreed to improve the road within two years and it will attempt to annex the road plus the park land to the city. The land currently is in Buchanan township off Red Bud trail just north of the city limits.

The park area, over two acres in size, is located just north of the marina on the southwest bank of the river.

In a related move, the commission instructed City Manager Robert Faulhaber to place on the Jan. 24 agenda consideration of updating cost estimates for building the access road.

In other areas, consideration of bids for the renovation of city hall was delayed until the commission's Jan. 24 meeting.

Faulhaber said he wanted to investigate differences between the low bid of $5,444 and a high bid of $8,443 among the six bids received before submitting them to the commission.

The work would include a new ceiling, new lighting, and painting the commission chambers, plus new floor covering and painting the main city hall entrance.

Tabled last night for further study was consideration of an ordinance aimed at controlling garage and yard sales in the city; whether to seek bids on two new police cars; and a report on the Southwestern Michigan Community Ambulance service.

Faulhaber announced that the city has sold 267 Clark Equipment Co. stock shares for a net profit of $10,814. The shares were a gift to the city's teen center from the late Hazel Miles.

The commission approved signing a contract with consultant Leslie Cripps, Berrien Springs, to prepare a $400,000 application for federal community development funds. Costs for preparation of the application is not to exceed $2,500.

Faulhaber was instructed to prepare a traffic control order for a second lane merging sign on Front street near Liberty street for westbound traffic.

The action followed the reading of a report from traffic consultant Adrian Koert, Lansing, on Front street traffic.

Rejected was Koert's recommendation that private property at the intersection be cut back to improve visibility for motorists turning left from Liberty onto Front.

board earlier but was not yet signed, would have placed guards at the intersection of Church and Main streets and at one intersection on South Center street. The board and council would have split the $3,000 cost of the program.

In other areas, the board approved hiring a bilingual teacher's aide for the school system's bilingual program. A total of 103 students are in the program and 87 are in need of special assistance, the board indicated.

The board approved job descriptions for all elementary and secondary school principals.

The board also passed a resolution stating students would be given the opportunity to develop through individualization of instruction in the district. It also directed the administration to see that programs needed to meet the goal be carried out.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Young Man Treated For Chest Wounds

A Benton township man was listed in "good" condition today at Mercy hospital after sustaining three apparent stab wounds to the chest Monday evening, according to Benton Harbor police.

Otis Young, 19, of 1881 Brittain avenue, refused to tell police how he'd been wounded, officers said. The hospital reported Young was brought in by relatives about 8 p.m.

Mamie Gagliardo, 343 Montezuma road, Fairplain, told Benton Harbor police that a remote control garage door opener was stolen from her car Monday afternoon. The unlocked car was parked on Calypso avenue while she was in.

Address Wrong

A woman identified as Denise Laretta Williams, 18, who was released after a raid on a Benton Harbor apartment Friday because charges were not authorized, does not live at 826 Thresher avenue, Benton Harbor, according to Vonnie Holton of that address. The Thresher address was given for Denise Williams on a state police report.

Covert Schools Buy Two Buses

COVERT — The Covert school board last night voted to purchase two 66-passenger school buses.

One bus is to be purchased from the Hoekstra Truck Co., Grand Rapids, at a cost of $16,993 and the other from Neil's Automotive Service, Kalamazoo, for $16,400. Both buses are 1976 Internationals.

A lower bid of $15,300 for a different make bus was rejected because board members wanted only Internationals, according to Bernard Lucas, board secretary.

The policies deal with student absenteeism, administration of medication to students, and suspension of students.

He said Neil's Automotive only had one International on hand, so the second had to be purchased at a higher price from the Grand Rapids firm.

The administration was authorized to seek loans for money to pay for the buses. A public meeting will be called within the next two weeks to take action on the loan bids, according to Supt. William Randolph.

In other areas, the board agreed to table three proposed administrative policies until board members can discuss them further with building principals.

The policies deal with student absenteeism, administration of medication to students, and suspension of students.

March 8 Date For Niles Vote

NILES — The Niles school board last night set March 8 as the date for a special election on a proposed increase of four mills in the district's property tax levy.

The board said that if approved, the district's extra voted tax rate would increase from 19.5 mills to 23.5 mills for school operating purposes.

The three-year proposal would raise an estimated $675,000 in the first year, the board said.

An increase is needed, the board claimed, because of several factors which included a drop in enrollment and a resultant cut in state aid; a projected deficit in the current operating budget of $520,000 by the end of the school year, and a drop in the system's state equalized valuation.

If approved, the four-mill levy would be the first tax increase in the district for operating purposes since 1969, the board said.

Galien Will File For Sewer Plan Final Grant Bid

GALIEN — The Galien village council last night voted to make final application to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for grants toward the construction of a $1,289,000 sewage collection and treatment system.

The application seeks $838,500 from the federal government and $55,900 from the state government. The remaining $394,600 would be raised locally through the sale of bonds.

The grants are being sought under a joint state and federal program that provides up to 80 per cent funding for certain waste water treatment projects.

The proposed system calls for laying about five miles of sanitary sewer lines to serve some 260 homes in Galien. A lagoon treatment system would also be built.

The village has been in the process of seeking the construction grants for nearly a year. Galien presently has no sewage system or treatment facilities.

The village could pay off the bonds in one of four ways: special assessment; tap-in fees; monthly debt service charge; or a special assessment plus an at-large tax. Customers would also pay a monthly maintenance and operation fee.

Stauder, Barch & Associates, Grosse Pointe Farms, has been retained by the council to study which bond payment plan would be best for the village.

The rate study report is expected to be completed by Friday.

In conjunction with the application, the council also voted to hire Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph, as consulting engineers for the project. They will be paid $45,000 for their professional services.

In other areas, the council appointed William Heckathorn, 308 South Main street, to fill the unexpired term of former Councilman Jack Canfield, who resigned. Slightly over three years of the term remain.

The council announced that bids are being sought to reroof the village hall.

Following a complaint by Stephen Nichols, 203 South Cleveland avenue, the council okayed instructing village patrolmen to issue tickets on cars parked in Nichols' private drive on the O'Malley clinic.

A special meeting of the village council, Galien township board and the Galien school board slated prior to last night's village meeting was postponed until a later date, not yet set. The special combined meeting concerns law and order in the Galien area.

Search 'Illegal'; Coloman Freed

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

COLOMA — A Coloma township man arrested Friday for alleged possession of amphetamines and marijuana has been freed without formal charges being filed.

The Berrien prosecutor's office authorized the charge against LeRoy A. Rushing, 19, 7069 Paw Paw avenue, Coloma, but Berrien Fifth District court Judges Leo Cook and Ronald Taylor both refused to sign warrants making the charges formal. The refusals were on grounds Coloma township police conducted what constituted an "illegal search and seizure" of possible evidence, according to Judge Cook.

Judge Cook refused to sign the warrant on Saturday and Judge Taylor refused yesterday when it was resubmitted.

Rushing was arrested by township police after an officer had seen what he thought was an open beer can in the auto a man was in, in the parking lot of Wil-O-Paw bowling alley, Coloma township. The vehicle was searched and confiscation of suspected drugs followed.

Judge Cook said the state statute concerning open intoxicants in a motor vehicle pertains only to highways of the state and "not in a parking lot" where township police had checked the car.

"Since they (township police) never saw the auto on the highway, they had no right to arrest the subject in question, let alone search the vehicle the subject was in," Judge Cook said.

Rushing is the son of Van Buren Seventh District court Magistrate Norman Rushing of Paw Paw.

BY JOHN DYE
South Haven Bureau

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan city commission last night voted to accept the gift of an access road to a proposed park along the St. Joseph river here.

The gift was from the late Harold A. Smith who owned Smith's marina which is currently served by the road. The road was valued at $6,000.

In return, the commission agreed to improve the road within two years and it will attempt to annex the road plus the park land to the city. The land currently is in Buchanan

Hartford Board, City Will Meet

HARTFORD — The Hartford school board announced last night that a special meeting with the city council here concerning crossing guards near Red Arrow elementary school will be held Monday, Jan. 17.

The public meeting will be conducted at city hall starting at 7:30 p.m.

Two weeks ago, the Hartford city council voted 4 to 3 to void an agreement with the schools which would have placed crossing guards at two intersections.

Primary opposition to the agreement centered around a provision on operation of stop and go traffic lights at the intersections of School and Center streets, Edwin and Main, and Center and Shepard.

According to Police Chief Lee Spencer, the lights are illegal because they are not properly sequenced — amber and red lights appear at the same time. The crossing guard agreement, which had been approved by the council and board earlier but was not yet signed, would have placed guards at the intersection of Church and Main streets and at one intersection on South Center street. The board and council would have split the $3,000 cost of the program.

In other areas, the board approved hiring a bilingual teacher's aide for the school system's bilingual program. A total of 103 students are in the program and 87 are in need of special assistance, the board indicated.

The board approved job descriptions for all elementary and secondary school principals.

The board also passed a resolution stating students would be given the opportunity to develop through individualization of instruction in the district. It also directed the administration to see that programs needed to meet the goal be carried out.

Young Man Treated For Chest Wounds

A Benton township man was listed in "good" condition today at Mercy hospital after sustaining three apparent stab wounds to the chest Monday evening, according to Benton Harbor police.

Ota Young, 19, of 1881 Britain avenue, refused to tell police how he'd been wounded, officers said. The hospital reported Young was brought in by relatives about 8 p.m.

Covert Schools Buy Two Buses

COVERT — The Covert school board last night voted to purchase two 44-passenger school buses.

One bus is to be purchased from the Hoekstra Truck Co., Grand Rapids, at a cost of $16,993, and the other from Neil's Automotive Service, Kalamazoo, for $16,400. Both buses are 1978 Internationals.

A lower bid of $15,300 for a different make bus was rejected because board members wanted only Internationals, according to Bernard Lucas, board secretary.

The policies deal with student absences, administration of medication to students, and suspension of students.

March 8 Date For Niles Vote

NILES — The Niles school board claimed because of several factors which included a drop in enrollment and a resultant cut in state aid, a projected deficit in the current operating budget of $320,000 by the end of the school year, and a drop in the system's state equalized valuation.

If approved, the four-mill levy would be the first tax increase in the district for operating purposes since 1969, the board said.

An increase is needed, the board claimed, because of a proposed increase of four mills in the district's property tax levy.

The board said that if approved, the district's extra-voted tax rate would increase from 19.5 mills to 23.5 mills for school operating purposes. The three-year proposal would raise an estimated $675,000 in the first year, the board said.

If approved, the four-mill levy would be the first tax increase in the district for operating purposes since 1969, the board said.

Galien Will File For Sewer Plan Final Grant Bid

GALIEN — The Galien village council last night voted to make final application to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for grants toward the construction of a $1,300,000 sewage collection and treatment system.

The application seeks $638,500 from the federal government and $55,000 from the state government. The remaining $344,000 would be raised locally through the sale of bonds.

The grants are being sought under a joint state and federal program that provides up to 86 per cent funding for certain waste water treatment projects.

The proposed system calls for laying about five miles of sanitary sewer lines to serve some 260 homes in Galien. A lagoon treatment system would also be built.

The village has been in the process of seeking the construction grants for nearly a year. Galien presently has no sewage system or treatment facilities.

The village could pay off the bonds in one of four ways: special assessment; tap-in fees; monthly debt service charge, or a special assessment plus an at-large tax. Customers would also pay a monthly maintenance and operation fee.

Stauder-Barch & Associates, Gross Pointe Farms, has been hired by the council to study which bond payment plan would be best for the village.

The rate study report is expected to be completed by February.

In conjunction with the application, the council also voted to hire Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph, as consulting engineers for the project. They will be paid $45,000 for their professional services.

In other areas, the council appointed William Heckathorn, 306 South Main street, to fill the unexpired term of former

Search 'Illegal'; Coloman Freed

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

COLOMA — A Coloma township man arrested Friday for alleged possession of amphetamines and marijuana has been freed without formal charges being filed.

The Berrien prosecutor's office authorized the charge against LeRoy A. Rushing, 19, 708 Paw Paw avenue, Coloma, but Berrien Fifth District court Judges Leo Cook and Ronald Taylor both refused to sign warrants making the charges formal. The refusals were on grounds Coloma township police conducted what constituted an "illegal search and seizure" of possible evidence, according to Judge Cook.

Judge Cook refused to sign the warrant on Saturday and Judge Taylor refused yesterday when it was resubmitted.

Rushing was arrested by township police after an officer had seen what he thought was an open beer can in the auto a man was in, in the parking lot of Wil-O-Paw bowling alley, Coloma township. The vehicle was searched and confiscation of suspected drugs followed.

Judge Cook said the state statute concerning open intoxicants in a motor vehicle pertains only to highways of the state and "not in a parking lot" where township police had checked the car.

"Since they (township police) never saw the auto on the highway, they had no right to arrest the subject in question, let alone search the vehicle the subject was in," Judge Cook said.

Rushing is the son of Van Buren Seventh District court Magistrate Norman Rushing of Paw Paw.

Gary School Strike Halts All Classes

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Non-academic employees of the Gary school system struck Monday morning.

Heavy snow kept all Lake County schools closed, but officials said no classes would be held here until the strike is resolved.

School Superintendent Gordon McAndrew said teachers would be required to report to school today, but classes would not be held because the "atmosphere is not conducive to learning." He said those teachers reporting to school would receive their regular pay.

Local 208 of the Building Services Union, representing custodians and secretaries, struck at midnight in a dispute over pay and other matters.

The union is asking for a 10 per cent wage hike. The school board had offered a 5 per cent increase, the same agreed to by teachers. The non-academic employees claim that 5 per cent is not enough, because they make much less than the teachers.

Bangor Okays New Policeman

BANGOR — The Bangor city council last night voted approval for the hiring of a new police officer. The officer, George Schaefer, has already begun his duties after being selected by Police Chief Claude Robertson. He is to be paid from CETA funds, councilmen said.

In other areas, councilmen agreed that the electricity should remain turned on in the old band building on the corner of Walnut and Douglas streets. The city will foot the bill. The building is owned by the Bangor school district, and is presently not in use. The city has proposed to establish a museum there. Councilmen agreed that the city attorney should meet with school officials to prepare lease agreements.

The council approved the purchase of $235 time clock for city maintenance workers from the Michigan Time Recorder Co., Flint.

Gobles Ratifies Teacher Contract

GOBLES — The Gobles school board has ratified a two-year master teaching contract with the Gobles Education Association (GEA).

Teachers here had been working without a contract since the beginning of the 1976-77 school year. The new contract was made retroactive to Sept. 1, 1976.

Under the new contract, approved at a special session last week, beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree will make $9,000 compared to $8,950 under the old contract. After 12 years' experience, that same teacher will make $13,785 under the new contract compared to $13,240 under the old contract. The new contract calls for a said that two men armed with a .22-caliber pistol entered the mill office and fled with $102 after kicking an employee in the head.

A second man, Oliver Lee Smith, 19, Decatur, is currently awaiting trial on a charge of armed robbery in connection with the case.

In other cases before Judge Meyer Warshawsky, John Wilks, 19, Jackson, was sentenced to from one to two years in prison in connection with a charge of unlawfully using a motor vehicle in Paw Paw on July 18, 1975. Wilks, who was given credit for 301 days already spent in custody, had pleaded guilty to the charge on Nov. 30.

Larry Dean Whitter, 20, route 2, Watervliet, was sentenced to one year in jail as the result of his earlier guilty plea to a charge of larceny by conversion. The charge involves a car Whitter was loaned on May 29 by Stoney's Ford Sales, Gobles, which he allegedly failed to return.

Donald G. Pasley, 17, route 2, Watervliet, pleaded guilty to charges of attempted breaking and entering and felonious assault. Hartford police said the charges grew out of a Sept. 6 break-in at a house at 437 Clark street, Hartford. A 12-year-old boy told officers a man he saw in the house pointed a rifle at him and told him to leave.

Brothers Joseph Rigozzi, 22, and Robert Rigozzi, 21, both of 219 Bangor street, Bangor, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building. State police at South Haven said the charge grew out of the reported theft of a number of household items from a home on 48th street in Columbia township on Dec. 8.

Janice Marie West, 25, Hartford, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted armed robbery. The charge grew out of a complaint by Charles Sample, 23, Hartford, that he was robbed of $14 and a watch by a man and a woman armed with a handgun on Sept. 8.

Sample told police his car had broken down and that he was walking on Red Arrow highway west of Hartford when the pair offered him a ride. Anthony Vinson, 25, Hartford, also faces a charge of armed robbery stemming from the alleged holdup.

Douglas Jay French, 20, and Daniel Eugene Crall, 18, both of 247 Broadway, South Haven, pleaded innocent to charges of breaking and entering a coin operated device, a pop machine, outside the M and M Supermarket, Lawrence, on Dec. 17.

Maurice Greer, 22, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and entering a house trailer on M-43 near South Haven on Nov. 20.

D.L. Birchfield, 59, Oceanside, Calif., pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a pistol, near Mattawan on Dec. 21.

Two Watervliets Ink 1-Board Plan

WATERVLIET — An agreement putting the Watervliet fire and ambulances services under one administrative board was signed by Watervliet township and city officials last night.

The services have been operated jointly by the two municipalities under separate boards previously. The merger is to be effective Jan. 15.

Signing of the formal agreement came during a meeting of the Watervliet township board. It had already been approved by the city commission.

Under the agreement, each municipality will have three members on the board.

Initially representing the township will be Township Clerk Barbara Tyler, Lawrence Strouse and Lyle Woodworth.

The board agreed to pay $410 to Robert Kosher of 276 Forest Beach road for water damage to his property caused in 1973 by a broken sewer tile.

Mrs. Tyler said ambulance crews made 30 calls in December.

Representing the city will be Robert Flaherty, Richard Bridges and Thomas Murphy.

The boards were combined because both fire and ambulance provide protection for city and township and are run by funds from both governments.

In other areas during the township board meeting, the board agreed to consider a request for an additional $500 appropriation to the North Berrien county senior citizens center. The township currently allocates $500.

Bus Driver Pact OK'd In Watervliet

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet school board last night ratified a three-year contract with the union representing the school system's 10 bus drivers.

The contract calls for salary increases of three per cent this school year, seven per cent in 1977-78 and four per cent in 1978-79, according to Supt. Samuel Gravitt. This year's hike was made retroactive to Sept. 1.

Under terms of the contract, bus driver wages will range from $3.95 to $4.30 per hour. The previous pay range was $3.85 to $4.12 per hour.

The drivers are represented by a local of the Service Employees International union.

In other areas, the board appointed trustee Gordon Krell as its representative to the Berrien Intermediate school board's budget hearing set for Feb. 17.

in Berrien Springs.

The board adopted a policy procedure for accepting gifts and donations.

The board also instructed Gravitt to write letters to area legislators and Dr. John Porter, state school superintendent, informing them of the Watervliet board's opposition to Dr. Porter's recent proposal. Dr. Porter has proposed that school boards be given the authority to levy an income tax, if property tax millage requests are defeated twice in the same year.

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: The Aries native seldom does anything in a half-hearted way — it's all or nothing! Those born under Taurus make ideal trustees or guardians — they seldom fail others. Scorpio natives are usually lucky at cards — they seem to possess a built-in ESP.

Population Of U.S. Has Shifted South

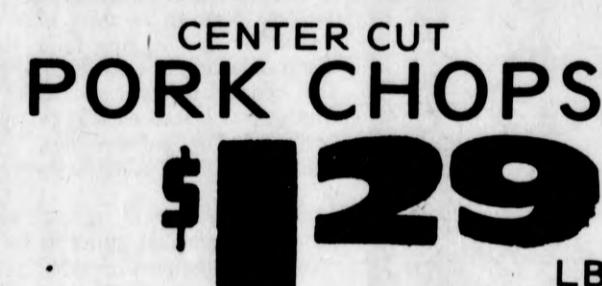

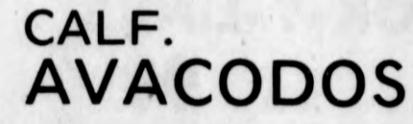

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drift of people from North to South has changed the traditional balance of population in the United States. The Census Bureau reported that a slim majority of the country's 214,659,000 people live in the South and West, based on 1976's preliminary census estimates.

The 21 states in the bureau's North Central and Northeastern regions had previously contained the bulk of the nation's population. They range from North Dakota to New Jersey. The Census Bureau noted several factors in the population shift. Many retirees move from the North to the South or West. Blacks are no longer migrating from the South to the North. The industrial base of the North is older and not experiencing the growth of some Southern industries, it said.

In addition, the birth rate has dropped drastically across the country, meaning that births no longer guarantee population growth for northern states suffering from emigration.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue To Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gained more ground today, continuing the cautious rally of the past three sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose about a point in early activity, and gainers opened up a 5-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted encouragement over the strong rise in retail sales last month reported by the government Monday afternoon.

They said the market got a further boost this morning when the Commerce Department estimated a 11.3 per cent rise in capital spending by businesses this year.

Today's early prices included S.S. Kresge, up $\frac{1}{4}$ to 39 $\frac{1}{2}$; U.S. Steel, ahead $\frac{1}{4}$ to 47 $\frac{1}{2}$; Texaco, unchanged at 27 $\frac{1}{2}$; and Chesebrough-Pond's, up $\frac{1}{4}$ at 26 $\frac{1}{2}$.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 3.74 gain to 986.87, extending its advance for the last three sessions to 8.81 points.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about a 5-4 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 20.86 million shares.

The NYSE's composite index added .10 to 56.89, and the American Stock Exchange market value-index was off .06 at 110.88.

Koehring Dividends Declared

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Koehring Company directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share on common stock, payable February 28, 1977, to shareholders of record at the close of business February 4, 1977.

Also declared were regular preferred dividends payable March 31, 1977, to shareholders of record March 15, 1977, as follows:

Series G — 37 $\frac{1}{2}$ c; Series H — 38 $\frac{1}{2}$ c; and Series I — 62 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

In addition, directors set the time, place, and shareholders record date for the annual meeting of shareholders. It will be held at 2:00 p.m. March 25, 1977, in the Bradley Pavilion of the Performing Arts Center, 929 North Water street, Milwaukee. The record date for determination of shareholders entitled to receive notice and to vote at the meeting was fixed as Feb. 4, 1977.

The directors discussed the possible acquisition of Koehring by Fruehauf Corporation announced earlier this week. A study committee was appointed. (Koehring is the parent company of Benton Harbor Engineering.

GM Studies Venture In Yugoslavia

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and a Yugoslav foundry are considering a venture to increase the foundry's supply of castings to GM's West German subsidiary, the automaker has announced.

The spokesman said Monday the proposed venture with Ljubljana Zeljeza i Tempera Kikinda is still in "a study stage."

The foundry supplies parts to Adam Opel AG under Yugoslav "counterpurchase" laws which require a foreign firm to buy components in proportion to the value of vehicles it sells in the Eastern European country.

Pound Takes Furn Upward

LONDON (AP) — The British pound, helped by a $3 billion "safety net" erected by the West's central banks, rose nearly two cents to almost $1.73 in early trading today, then slipped back a bit.

"The pound is looking pretty buoyant," said one top dealer.

The London Stock Exchange opened with some gains and the prospect of a more stable pound knocked more than $2.50 off the price of gold.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Some Firms Change Dividends To Shares

ROBERT KELLY

Robert Kelly, formerly of St. Joseph, has been elected a senior vice president of Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc., international public relations consulting firm.

I repeat: I am certain this is not a complete list. I will be happy to receive additions, corrections, deletions. And if you are not certain about a company in which you are interested, ask your broker. I will not have copies of this list for future distribution.

Q. I am interested in buying gold or silver. I don't know whether one buys stocks or the actual metal. How does one go about it? I'm 24.

If you want to speculate in gold or silver you may buy the metal itself (gold or silver coins, or bullion), or futures options on the metals, or shares in gold and silver mines.

Many large brokerage firms will help you put your money to work in any or all of these avenues. Coin dealers advertise in many publications.

Before you make any move — in any direction — I would suggest you devote some time to studying the various methods. You will find a virtual flood of books on the subject at any large library — many of them overly-optimistic.

Standard Alloys Pickets Charged

Four pickets were arrested Monday during a disturbance at the gates of Michigan Standard Alloys' plant on Arthur Mendel drive, Benton Harbor, city police reported. Police said the four men are members of the International Association of Machinists Local 2140, the union that has been striking the company's plants on Arthur Mendel drive and Milton street since Dec. 14.

Patrolmen Delmar Lange and Dale Easton were called to the plant at 11 a.m. to help a truck driver whose entrance to the plant was being blocked by strikers, they said. Once police arrived the truck entered the plant, but as it left pickets again blocked its path and attempted to question the driver, Easton said. Jimmie Lee Samson, 35, of 526 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, was arrested on a charge of obstructing a public roadway, Lange said. Other pickets then tried to free Samson and Lange said chemical spray was used to subdue them.

Arrested on charges of disorderly person (obstructing police) were Eddie Jackson, 24, of 670 Pavone, and James L. Parker, 38, of 348 Brunson, both of Benton Harbor; and Russell W. Downs, 25, of 2708 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph.

GM Rebate Policy Is Expanded

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has extended rebates for three compact car models and says its $200 cash incentive program would be expanded to cover other models.

The rebates, scheduled to end at midnight Monday, were extended through Feb. 26 on Pontiac Astres and Chevrolet Vegas and Chevettes.

The company also announced a new rebate program Friday for the Pontiac Sunbird and Chevrolet Monza Town Coupe and Luv Series 5 light-duty truck.

American Motors Corp. also announced its $255 cash rebate program on Pacer sedans and wagons would be extended to Feb. 10, with Pacers delivered from dealer stock rebated until March 10.

Customers taking delivery on any of the GM models until Feb. 28 will receive $200, either directly from the company or as partial down payment.

Customers ordering models from the factory on or before Feb. 8, no matter when they take delivery, will be eligible also, GM said.

A Chevrolet spokesman said sales of Chevettes and Vegas increased 40 per cent since the rebates took effect Nov. 10.

Sales of Pontiac Astre surged 15 per cent after the buyer bonus started, a Pontiac spokesman said.

AMC said it realized a 5 per cent increase in Pacer sales since it offered rebates Nov. 16.

Four pickets were arrested Monday during a disturbance at the gates of International Standard Alloys' plant on Arthur Monroe Drive, Benton Harbor, city police reported. Police said the four men are members of the International Association of Machinists Local 240, the union that has been striking the company's plants on Arthur Monroe Drive and Monroe street since Dec. 14.

Benton Harbor Police Large and Dale Ranson were called to the scene at 11:30 a.m. to take a report from drivers whose entrance to the plant was being blocked by strikers, they said. Once police arrived the truck entered the plant, but as it left pickets again blocked its path and attempted to prevent the driver, Ensign said. Jimmie Lee Sammons, 36, of 85th Territorial road, Benton Harbor, was arrested on a charge of obstructing a public roadway, Large said. Other pickets then tried to fire hoses and Large said chemical spray was used to subdue them.

Arrested on charges of disorderly persons (obstructing police) were Eddie Jackson, 24, of 510 Pavone, and James L. Parker, 39, of 340 Brumman, both of Benton Harbor; and Russell W. Downs, 26, of 1708 Lake Shore Drive, St. Joseph.

GM Rebate Policy Is Expanded

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has expanded rebates for three compact car models and says its $500 cash incentive program would be extended to cover other models.

The rebates, scheduled to end at midnight Monday, were extended through Feb. 20 on Pontiac Astros and Chevrolet Vegas and Chevette.

The company also announced a new rebate program Friday for the Pontiac Sunbird and Chevrolet Monza Town Coupe and Cutlery Series & Highline trunks.

American Motors Corp. also announced its own cash rebate program on Pinto sedans and wagons would be extended to Feb. 10, with Pinters delivered from dealer stock renewed until March 10.

Customers buying delivery on any of the GM models until Feb. 20 will receive $500, either directly from the company or as part down payment.

Customers ordering models from the factory as of before Feb. 10, no matter when they take delivery, will be eligible also, GM said.

A Chevrolet spokesman said sales of Chevelles and Vegas increased 10 per cent since the rebates took effect Nov. 10.

Sales of Pontiac Astros surged 15 per cent after the higher bonus started, a Pontiac spokesman said.

AMC said it realized a 5 per cent increase in Pinto sales since it offered rebates Nov. 10.

Ten Sentenced; Two Ask Court Hearings

Two people demanded examination, 10 were sentenced and another pleaded innocent on a misdemeanor charge in Berrien Fifth District court.

Demanding examinations were:

Lee Rogers Newman, 26, of 457 LaGrange street, South Haven, on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol in a motor vehicle Jan. 7 in Benton township. Bond was set at $15,000. Judge Leo K. Cook said Newman was already on parole for a previous firearms violation.

Rickey Weyinger, 21, of 1199 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking and entering a motor vehicle Jan. 8 in Benton township. Bond was set at $2,500.

Sentenced were:

John R. Keith, 45, of 542 Campbell avenue, Benton township, $200 or 40 days in jail and two years probation for impaired driving, second offense, Sept. 18 in Coloma township.

Reginald J. Harry, 28, of 406½ Front street, Dowagiac, 90 days in jail for contempt of court for failure to report to the Berrien county jail on two weekends to serve a sentence for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Dwight Pettis, 26, of 865 Superior street, Benton Harbor, five days in jail and $150 or 30 days in jail for assault and battery against Lynne Smith Jan. 2 in Benton Harbor.

Frederick Rivera, 20, of Detroit, $150 or 30 days in jail for driving under the influence of intoxicants Jan. 7 in Chikaming township.

Harry VanSweden, 64, of Grand Rapids, nine days in jail for malicious destruction of property under $100, a window at the Flamingo motel in New Buffalo Dec. 30.

Marvin Evans, 20, of 794 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, $125 or 30 days in jail for receiving and concealing stolen property under $100, shotgun parts, Jan. 9 in Benton Harbor.

Sentenced for the following offenses were:

Use of marijuana — Duane Kelley, 18, of 567 East Britain avenue, Benton Harbor, $50 or 10 days in jail; and Randy J. Tezloff, 18, of LaPorte, Ind., $50 or 10 days in jail.

Driving with a suspended license — Allan Lee Jones, 26, of Detroit, three days in jail and $85 or 20 days total; Hurley L. Thompson, 22, of 251 Kirby street, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $90 or 10 days total.

William P. Griffis, 18, of Oak Lawn, Ill., pleaded innocent on a charge of larceny under $100, gasoline, from Jim's Sunoco station, New Buffalo township, Sunday. He was sentenced to $25 or five days in jail for transporting an open container of alcohol, $105 or 20 days in jail for speeding and $25 or five days in jail for improper registration plates. Griffi was the driver of a car that led police on a high speed chase in St. Joseph and Benton townships.

METS' STAFF BEST?

Wife Of Slain Man To Face Perjury Trial

A woman indicted by the Berrien citizens' grand jury on a charge of perjury pleaded innocent when arraigned Monday in Berrien Circuit court.

Victoria A. Hollis, 28, of 892 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, was continued free on $500 bond by Judge Zoe Burkholz to await trial. Mrs. Hollis is charged with perjury before the grand jury on Oct. 7 for allegedly lying under oath on her whereabouts the night her husband was killed.

Mrs. Hollis is the widow of Charles Anderson at gunpoint in Benton Harbor on Oct. 23.

In other arraignments before Judge Burkholz:

Danny E. Juretich, 24, of Hagar township, pleaded guilty to armed robbery in the Oct. 14 holdup of Georgiana Enders at Georgiana's tavern in Benton Harbor. She was robbed of cash by Ruby Jean Bradley, 17, of 221 South McCord street, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a

Ten Sentenced; Two Ask Court Hearings

Two people demanded examination, 10 were sentenced and another pleaded innocent on a misdemeanor charge in Berrien Fifth District court.

Demanding examinations were:

Lee Rogers Newman, 26, of 47 LaGrange street, South Haven, on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol in a motor vehicle Jan. 7 in Benton township. Bond was set at $15,000. Judge Lee K. Cook said Newman was already on parole for a previous firearms violation.

Robert Weygant, 21, of 1169 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking and entering a motor vehicle Jan. 8 in Benton township. Bond was set at $2,500.

Sentenced were:

John R. Keith, 40, of 342 Campbell avenue, Benton township, $300 or 40 days in jail and two years probation for impaired driving, second offense.

Bernard J. Harry, 26, of 4642 Front street, Dowagiac, 30 days in jail for contempt of court for failure to report to the Berrien county jail on two weekends to serve a sentence for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Dwight Pettis, 26, of 863 Superior street, Benton Harbor, five days in jail and $100 or 30 days in jail for assault and battery against Lynne Smith Jan. 2 in Benton Harbor.

Frederick Rivers, 26, of Detroit, $150 or 30 days in jail for driving under the influence of intoxicants Jan. 7 in Chikaming township.

Harry VanSweden, 64, of Grand Rapids, nine days in jail for malicious destruction of property under $100, a window at the Flamingo motel in New Buffalo Dec. 30.

Marvin Evans, 26, of 794 Bass avenue, Benton Harbor, $125 or 30 days in jail for receiving and concealing stolen property under $100, vintage parts, Jan. 6 in Benton Harbor.

Sentenced for the following offenses were:

Use of marijuana -- Duane Kelley, 18, of 367 East Britain avenue, Benton Harbor, $50 or 30 days in jail; and Randy J. Turiff, 18, of LaPorte, Ind., $50 or 30 days in jail.

Driving with a suspended license -- Alton Lee Jones, 26, of Detroit, three days in jail and $50 or 30 days total; Harley L. Thompson, 22, of 251 Kirby street, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $50 or 10 days total.

William P. Griffis, 18, of Oak Lawn, Ill., pleaded innocent on a charge of larceny under $100, gasoline, from Jim's Sunoco station, New Buffalo township, Sunday. He was sentenced to $25 or five days in jail for transporting an open container of alcohol, $100 or 20 days in jail for speeding and $25 or five days in jail for improper registration plates. Griffis was the driver of a car that led police on a high speed chase in St. Joseph and Benton townships.

Many baseball experts say the New York Mets had the best pitching staff in baseball in 1976, featuring starters Tom Seaver, Jerry Koosman and Jon Matlack.
